

Antioch votes to improve library collection

Voters say yes to new computers, expanded patron services

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch voters said "yes" on Tuesday for additional library materials.

They said "yes" for new computers and other patron services.

They said "yes" for saving money for future growth and building enhancements.

On Tuesday, Nov. 3, there were 2,810 voters, 52.11 percent, who said the Antioch Public Library District tax rate should be increased 8.5 cents to 25.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. There were 2,582 people, 47.89 percent, who said no.

"I'm very, very pleased," said Library District President Ann

Kakacek. "How could anyone not be pleased?"

"A lot of people expressed an opinion and that was a good sized vote," she said. "We hope the entire township knows we thank them for their interest."

Kakacek said the board will do what it said it would do with the new infusion of financial resources. Twice as many library materials will be added to the shelves as was done last year. They will spend $65,000 on computers and other patron services.

"Out of this first money, there will be some put aside." Funds will be saved for future growth and building enhancements.

"We are also going to seek input from all of our patrons about what materials they would like us to purchase," Kakacek said.

Patrons can stop by the library with suggestions, leave a note in the suggestion box, or talk to Library Director Kathy LaBuda.

"We do want to be responsive to our patrons," she said. "We will be doing this as quickly as possible. If people do have input, it's crucial that they tell us soon."

"We have to respect the people who say no because they took the time to vote," said Kakacek. "And, we delight in the people who voted yes."

Kakacek said that the effort to pass the referendum had some additional benefits. The Antioch Library Friends group was a delight to work with, according to Kakacek, and the library board came together as a stronger group. She said that it was a wonderful experience to work with the library staff.

Osmond to continue Dist. 62 traditions of accessibility

Will resign Antioch Township post; heads to Springfield

By KENNETH PATCHEN

Timothy H. Osmond has promise to keep.

During the course of Tuesday, 17,021 voters selected the Antioch Township Supervisor as their choice to represent them as Illinois' State Representative for District 62.

For some local political leaders, Osmond represents the continued promise of accessibility for the district and the people.

For Tim Osmond, the victory represents the opportunity to take his strong spirit of community service to another level of government service.

Republican Tim Osmond was elected District 62 Representative with 64.82 percent of the vote, over Democrat Michael J. Delmler. Delmler obtained 9,237 votes, 35.18 percent, in his first effort for district elective office.

"I promise to work hard, to be accessible, and do my best job for the district," Osmond said as results of his victory became increasingly apparent. "I want to thank all of the citizens that helped."

"I will resign from the (Antioch Township) Supervisor position," he said. "I promised I would do that."

"I'll fight as hard as I can to keep the Kiley Center open," he also said.

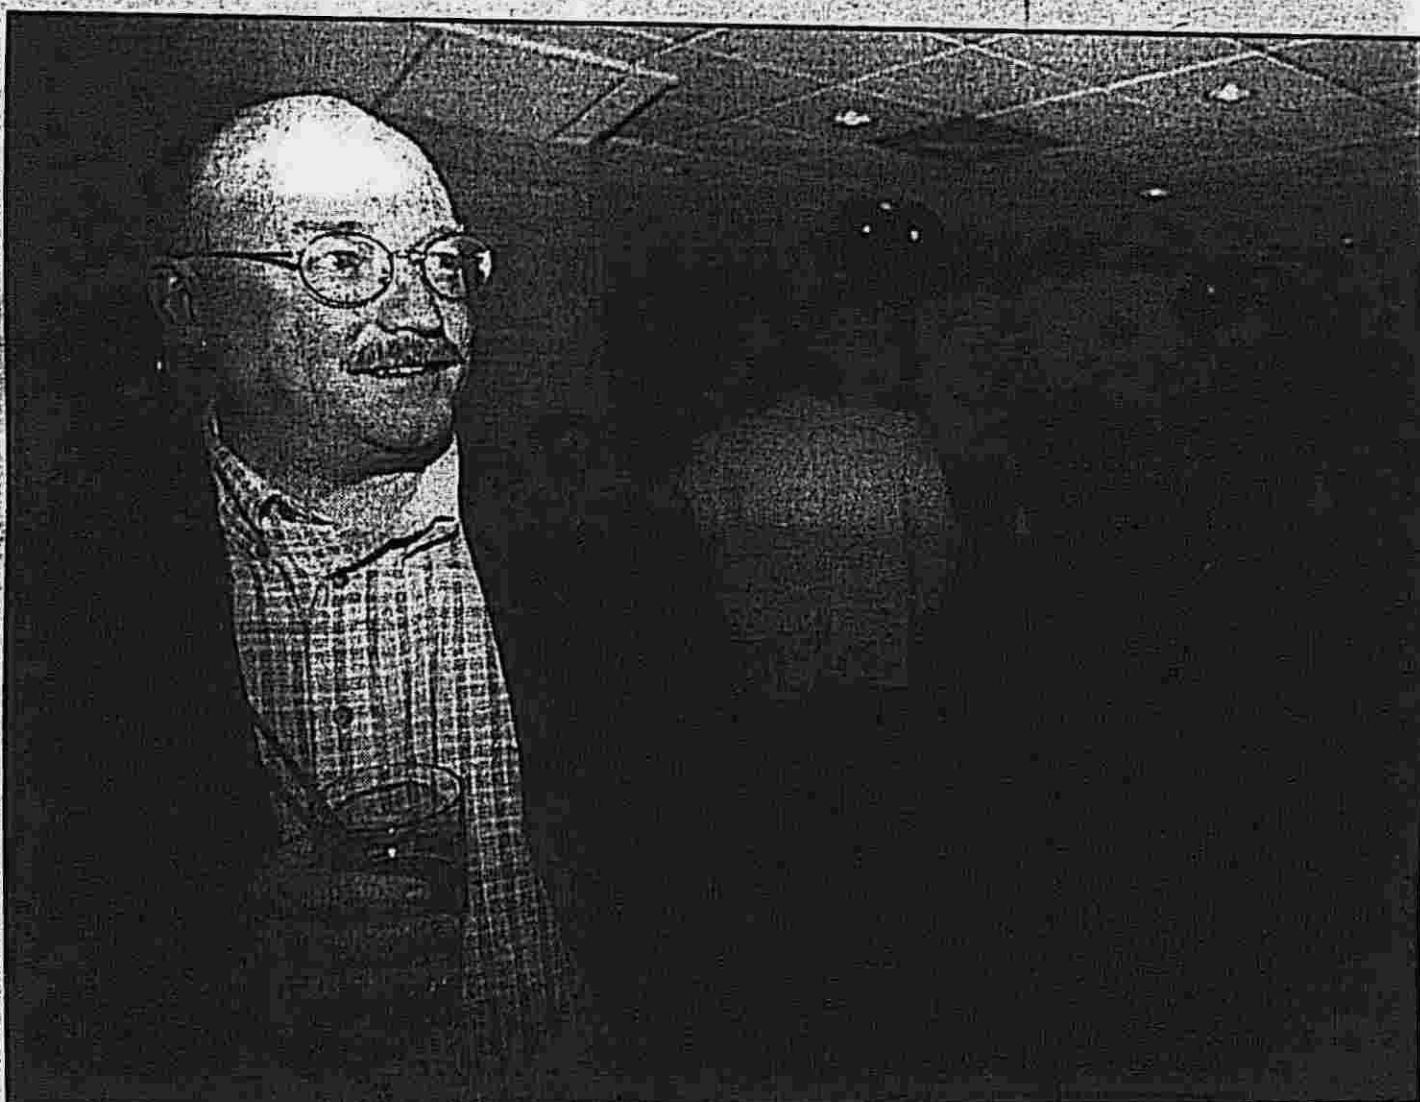

Two politicians who have worked with Osmond for many years expressed strong expectations that he will continue traditions of district accessibility.

"Tim is very available and will sit down with people," said Antioch Township Trustee Steve Smouse. "He's going to be very accessible."

Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug said, "Just as Bob Churchill was readily available and interested in local needs, I would expect Tim Osmond, as representative, to continue the same type of positive concern."

"We're going to get good repre-

Grass Lake now able to upgrade school, maybe

Voters approve debt service extension referendum; money will fund school improvements

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Grass Lake School District 36 voted to give itself the opportunity to improve the school by passing a debt service extension base referendum.

School officials now may propose a bond issue to raise funds to build a cafeteria and multi-purpose room.

"We're going to ratify (the results) next Tuesday," said District Superintendent Jim Beveridge. The Nov. 10 school board meeting will be a special meeting to go over election results.

A resolution to issue bonds will come at the next regular board meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 17 at 7 p.m.

Voters approved the referendum to establish a debt service extension base by 79 votes. There were 458 "yes" votes, 54.72 percent, and 379 "no" votes, 45.28 percent. The debt service extension base allows District 36 officials to propose bond issues. The bond issues are subject to a public hearing process.

A new cafeteria building and multi-purpose room on the north side of the existing building is proposed as the first improvement for the school, according to Beveridge.

The cafeteria will eliminate serving lunch on the stage area of the gymnasium. The multi-purpose room will allow instruction and storage of educational materials.

"We want to get 110 percent use out of that room," said Beveridge.

"I hope to get started this summer," Beveridge said of tentative construction plans.

Passage of the referendum has been a long process for people in the district who support school improvement.

"We've been two years working on it," he said. "We're the first in Lake County to do this. We may be the first in Illinois to do this."

Approval of a debt service extension base, according to district officials, will allow the possibility of bond issues that create a $95,000 annual bond and interest levy. Such an amount increases taxes by 17 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

"For the owner of a $150,000 home, a (17 cent) tax-rate increase would mean an approximate increase in taxes of (22 cents) per day or $80 annually," according to school officials.

Opportunities for Grass Lake School officials to undertake school safety and fire prevention measures, building additions, capital projects, and energy management were not possible without passage of a debt service extension base.

OSMOND: Wins race

sensation from Tim," said Smouse. "He's been so active on the (township) board."

"He's made a lot of contacts in the eastern area (of the district)," said Smouse. Osmond works well with the township base of people and contacts, and that will help as a representative, according to Smouse.

Osmond said, "I'll be up here more than I'll be down in Springfield." The current district office will remain where it is at 976 Hillside Avenue.

"I plan to explore the possibility of opening up an office on the eastern side of the district," he said.

In addition, he expects to continue the existing spirit of close cooperation with other state legislators, such as Senator Adeline Geo-Karis and Representative Mark Beaubien Jr.

People who have worked closely with him in the past will continue to do so. "Linda Pedersen is going to be my legislative aide," he said. "Bill Snodgrass will continue to be a consultant on educational issues."

Pedersen is a long-time community volunteer and civic leader. She is presently President of the tenth district of the Illinois General Federation of Women's Clubs. Pedersen is former President of the Antioch Rotary Club.

Snodgrass was Superintendent of Schools in North Chicago. He serves as a legislative aide to District 62 Representative Robert Churchill on senior citizen issues and education.

Osmond expects to work with Antioch Township trustees until early 1999. He will be working with them on the new budget. When he resigns, township trustees will select a new supervisor to replace Osmond and appoint a new member to serve two years until the next election. At that time, the appointee may choose to run as a candidate for the office.

Footlights kicks off tonight!

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Footlights steps into the limelight, tonight, with many highlights to delight.

"So far, it's going very well," said Linda Pedersen of the general organizing committee. There is something new, and some rooms are variations and updates on past offerings.

This 17th anniversary celebration known as Footlights will begin tonight, Friday, Nov. 6 and continue tomorrow night, Nov. 7. It will also unfold next weekend, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 13 and 14. Doors open at 6 p.m.

It takes place at St. Peter School behind the church at 557 Lake Street. There is close-by parking and shuttle bus service available.

The Footlights Committee encourages people to consider attending on Friday evening when it is less crowded.

Footlights offers full course meals, snacks, drinks of all kinds, music of all styles—well, maybe most of the commonly accepted styles in Antioch by about 2,800 people between the age of 21 and 106—comedy, pathos, dessert, gambling, and PM&L theater magic.

"There are some new people in Lip Sync," she said. There is new music and new acts for one of the most popular rooms in Footlights, "The Stars of Lip Sync."

There is an improvisational comedy group—3Brothers. "We haven't had that type of entertainment before," said Pedersen. "That is something new we're trying."

"The Alley" is the venue for the 3Brothers.

Ed Franks will present a program of Frank Sinatra in the "TwoCan Dances" room.

"He will be doing his own show," said Pedersen.

Franks will alternate with the retro-rock presentations of the Michael Lescher Band and Friends.

If that is not close enough to Las Vegas for residents, they can hit the top floor casino, "Black Jack and Diamond Jim's."

"They've got blackjack, roulette, poker, and craps," said Pedersen. They also have bang, a bar, and a casino license from the State of Illinois titled #CG17. It is the oldest established casino in Antioch, according to Footlights, and it is a very popular place to make donations.

Tickets are available at the door.

"Advanced ticket sales are cheaper," Pedersen said.

Tickets are available at State Bank of The Lakes, First National Bank-Employee Owned, First National Bank of Chicago, St. Peter Church Rectory, American Family Insurance, and Realty World-Tiffany.

Admission is restricted to people 21 years old and older. Proceeds benefit St. Peter Parish.

Women's Club celebrates century of service

The General Federation of Women's Clubs, Illinois 10th District held their 100th birthday party Wednesday, Oct. 28 at the Midland Country Club.

It included a remarkable presentation by Jackie Pierce.

First, Mayor Chuck Paxton of Zion sent over a proclamation of recognition. Senator Adeline Geo-Karis sent a proclamation from the 90th General Assembly of the State of Illinois recognizing the federation's "outstanding efforts of volunteering and service to the community." Jim Edgar wrote a letter of recognition for the anniversary and the years of service.

Second, "Fashions by Rori" presented a program called "Transformations" with a mixture of clothing styles and jewelry for all tastes. Federation member Mabel Lou Weber modeled a three-piece interlocked-knit suit with dramatic appliques that was sensational.

Third, there was a raffle with, literally, a hundred items in it. It was 100 wrapped boxes with something inside that equaled one hundred—such as sheet of 100 stamps, or envelopes. The First National Bank—Employee Owned stuffed a $100 bill into one of the boxes. That works nicely. Sharon Oldenburger had the idea for the raffle.

The final feature was Jackie Pierce's presentation of "A Ladies Tea Party." She started with the history of tea to the present era. Pierce defined some character traits, such as equality and liberty, and proceeded to tell five stories of women to illustrate each of the traits.

It was professional speech-making and storytelling all the way through. No one should ever miss the opportunity to hear her give that speech. Would anyone ever disagree with one of her final statements: "It is the General Federation of Women's Clubs that has allowed us to enhance the virtues of womanhood..."

Tenth District President Linda Pedersen spoke last. She said that without the hard work and dedication of women in their communities, they would not be there. "My hat's off to you."

Happy 100th Birthday.

Antioch police solve two major burglary cases

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Police officers prevented one burglary in progress and solved 22 others in separate cases in October involving automobiles.

At 3:30 a.m., Sgt. Craig Somerville found Rodney J. Plasky, 30, of Chicago, crouched behind a 1990 Chevrolet Astro Mini-van at the Lake Animal Clinic on Route 173 on Sunday, Oct. 18.

Plasky had a shopping list with him.

"On routine patrol, (Somerville) saw a van parked there," said Lt. Ron Roth of the Antioch Police Department. It was unusual to see a van there, and it had no front license plate. While investigating the situation, Somerville found Plasky crouched behind the van.

Somerville followed a trail through a vacant lot to Raymond Chevrolet & Oldsmobile, Inc., 120 West Route 173. He discovered that seven new Blazer spare tires and wheels had been removed from vehicles in a pouring rain.

Somerville also determined that tires had been removed from vans at Lyons-Ryan Ford-Lincoln-Mercury, Inc., at 104 West Route 173.

"(Plasky) had a shopping list of size and type of tire he was going to steal," said Roth. The tires matched the list, and the 16 tires are worth about $3,000.

Plasky was charged with two counts of theft over $300. He was also charged with having a stolen vehicle, possession of burglary tools, and possession of hypodermic needles. Also, in the van, there was a briefcase that had been reported stolen from a valet parking garage in Chicago six hours earlier.

"He's possibly involved in other work," said Roth. The confiscated tools are being checked to determine if they were used in other thefts in southern Lake County.

Plasky was taken to the Lake County Jail on Monday, Oct. 19 on a bond of $50,000.

In the second case, Detectives James Ruth and Ron Nauman, with assistance from the Lake County Sheriff's Office, broke a burglary case that involved three people and 22 vehicles. Not each of the three people was involved in all 22 incidents.

"Our detectives spent a great deal of effort to put an end to this," said Roth. "Over the summer we had a string of car burglaries."

The case was solved in mid-October.

Charged with burglary to a motor vehicle were Randy M. Oultsch, 18, and Brock C. Johnson, 17, both of Antioch Township, and Eric R. Brown, 18, of Lindenhurst. The Lake County State's Attorney will review the case to consider additional charges. All three individuals were taken to the Lake County Jail.

The burglaries to vehicles mainly were committed in apartment complexes, according to Roth. The target areas were Oakridge Village Apartments, Anita Terrace Apartments, Sequoia Apartments, and Johanna Court.

"The detectives are in the process of trying to recover some of the stolen property," said Roth. Owners are to be notified.

Roth said, "These detectives resorted to good old-fashioned police work on several leads. It involved a lot of man-hours."

Lions start ticket sales for wild game dinner

Annual auction, dinner Nov. 18

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Lions Club will host a wild game dinner and auction Nov. 18 at Maravella's in Fox Lake.

The vintage social hour will start at 6:30, followed by the Royal Dinner at 7:30 p.m., and auction and raffle entertainment.

There will be an egg toss.

"We will be serving bear, elk, venison, ostrich, buffalo, raccoon, muskrat, and beaver," said Claude LeMere, Lions club publicity manager for the event. "Duck, geese, and wild turkey are some of the other game dishes."

"Among the honored guests invited is Brent Manning, head of the Illinois Department of Natural Resources," said LeMere.

Tickets will be available at the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, First National Bank—Employee Owned, First National Bank of Chicago, State Bank of The Lakes, and from Antioch Lions Club members.

"Capacity for the dinner is 425, so get your tickets early," said LeMere.

"The purpose of this dinner is to enjoy the camaraderie of the Lions club, their friends and guests, partake in an absolutely delicious wild game feast, and to raise funds for the William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center," said LeMere.

"There will be a live auction by Robert Diemer," said LeMere. "He is one of the most entertaining auctioneers you will ever enjoy."

The live auction will feature many special items.

"There will be several types of guns auctioned off and beautiful prints," said LeMere. "A Remington 306 High Powered Rifle with scope was donated by George LeMere for the auction."

A gift basket of liquors has been donated.

"There will be door prizes for everyone. There will be a 50-50 raffle, and there'll be an egg toss," he said.

"(The egg toss is) a game of chance featuring 144 eggs, two dozen of which will be hard boiled," said LeMere. "We are carefully selecting, and putting great thought into who shall be the recipient of the egg toss."

Eggs will be $10 apiece. "Buy an egg," said LeMere.

"Anyone who gets a hard boiled egg will get a ticket that goes into a drawing for a grand prize."

Donations for the auction may be left at the Chamber of Commerce and Industry office in the Community Building, 884 Main Street, in downtown Antioch.

Corporate tables for the dinner and auction are available for $300.

The Antioch Lions Club has committed itself to a $20,000 donation for the William E. Brook Memorial by the end of 1999. To raise the funds, Lions have held raffles and dinners, and have sold The Game of Antioch board game. The wild game dinner is part of their fund-raising efforts.

The Lions have formed a wild game dinner committee to manage the event. The general dinner organization leaders are Dan Dugenske, Jim Fields, Claude LeMere, and Tom Haley.

Adam Zakroczymski Jr. will work with LeMere on publicity, and will take care of special menu items.

Area football teams find playoffs tough

Four varsity football teams from Lakeland's coverage area earned playoff berths last week, and after last weekend's games, only one survived.

The scores read like mismatches—except for one. Libertyville 45, Belleville East 0; Hubbard 40, Antioch 10; Morris 31, Wauconda 7; Montini 21, Johnsburg 20. One thing became very evident with these games: just because a team makes the playoffs, does not mean they're a threat to win the state title.

On one hand you have Libertyville, the Lake County juggernaut who absolutely destroyed an unsuspecting Belleville East team, and should make a run deep into the state post-season tourney.

On the other is Antioch and Wauconda, each had to win their last game of the season just to get into the playoffs. Antioch ran into Hubbard's all-everything running back, who racked up 330 yards and scored five touchdowns (4 rushing), and Wauconda had to face Morris, the third ranked team in Class 4A.

But Johnsburg, one of the top teams in Class 3A, was supposed to roll over Lombard-Montini, a team that sounds like it goes better with an olive or a twist than 220 rushing yards against the fourth-ranked Skyhawks.

With the first round of the playoffs in the books, it means it's time to announce our 1998 All-Lakeland Football Team.

The entire team is laid out on the next sports page, but here are the highlights:

Player of the Year

J.C. Harrington, quarterback, Libertyville

Coach of the Year

Bob Kasper, Wauconda

Newcomer of the Year

Dallas Bassett, freshman, Round Lake

Defensive Player of the Year

Cody Ramsey, linebacker, Libertyville

All-Purpose Player of the Year

Ben Hodges, quarterback, Mundelein

The team is littered with Libertyville players, as the number two team in the state clearly has the best defense and best offense of any teams in our coverage area. Also, the Wildcats boast the Player of the Year and Defensive Player of the Year.

Also, look for names like Ben Hodges, Dallas Bassett, Don Lackey, Jim Richardson, Leo Labrie, and Aaron Behm, because these will be the big names coming into next year's football season.

Sequoits bow out in blowout

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

All year long the Antioch varsity football team had made believers out of many who thought the Sequoits would not be a playoff contender in the tough North Suburban Conference. They proved the critics, and this newspaper, wrong, by posting a 6-3 record and reaching the 5A playoffs.

But Antioch got a tough draw in the first round of the playoffs: Hubbard. The result was a 40-10 rout of the Sequoits, as Antioch's defense could not get a hand on running back Charles Frazier.

Hubbard's Frazier was unstoppable as he ran over, around and through the Antioch defense. Frazier ran the ball 17 times for an amazing 330 yards and scored four touchdowns on the ground. He added one 40-yard TD catch for good measure, decimating the Sequoits defensive unit by himself.

Frazier's success running the ball (19.4 yards per carry average) was just too much for the Sequoits to overcome, and Antioch's surprising season was over.

Positives for the 1998 Sequoits included the running of senior halfback Matt Ingram, the passing of junior quarterback Don Lackey, and the receiving of wideout Jim Richardson.

Ingram racked up 754 yards and eight touchdowns, including a 211-yard performance early in the year.

Lackey, the team leader and the number one returning offensive threat, threw for 913 yards and eight touchdowns—a great year for a junior quarterback.

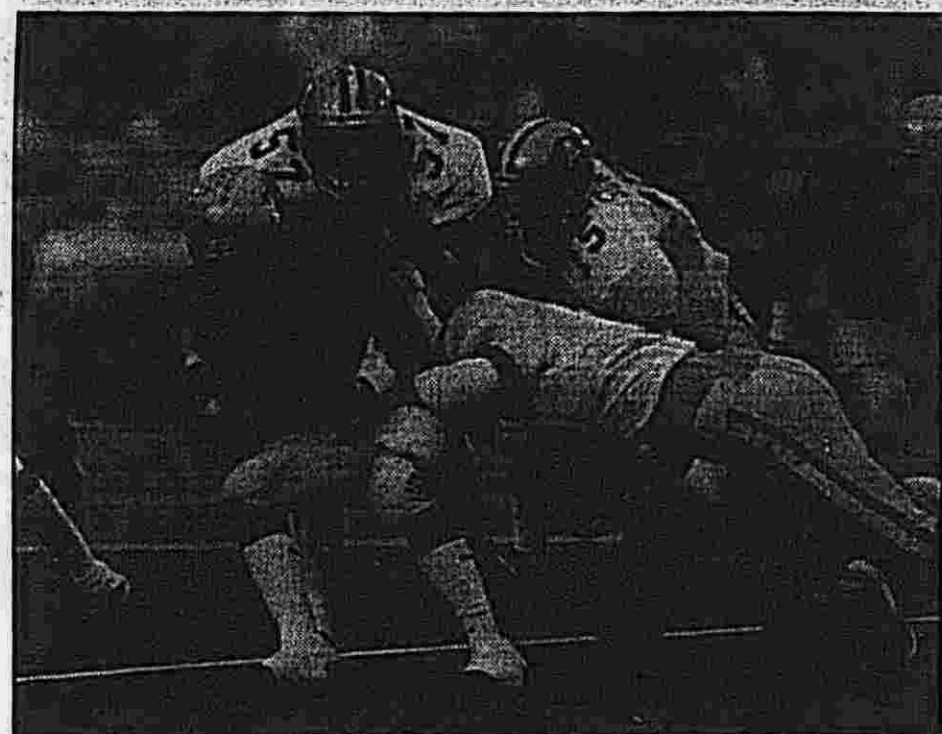

Most of Lackey's passes ended up in the Velcro-like hands of Richardson, who is also returning and should help the 1999 Sequoits build a lethal passing attack. Richardson caught 444 yards worth of Lackey's passes, good for three touchdowns, and should be a force to reckon with next year in the NSC.

Defensively, Antioch was led by hard-nosed senior linebacker/defensive lineman Nate Carden, who led the team in tackles and punished the opposition with every hit. He, like Richardson, was named to the All-Lakeland First Team for anchoring the Sequoits solid defense.

Lackey and Ingram were named to the All-Lakeland Honorable Mention squad, and fans of the Sequoits should look for Antioch to again make a playoff run.

'Optimism' key word for Grayslake in '99

By LEE FILAS
Staff Reporter

Optimism: n; Tendency to hope for the best.

That's the key word for Dan Dillon and the Grayslake Rams for 1999 after a 2-7 campaign in the 1998 season.

"We're losing some key people, but were also gaining some good players," said Dillon. "We will be building on this year."

The Grayslake Rams started out the year 0-5, losing to Prairie Ridge, Cary-Grove, Dundee Crown, Jacobs and Woodstock to start the season.

But, something snapped in that Woodstock game, the defense became meaner, while the offense found what they had been lacking.

Alex Frank, the leader of the charge, exploded all over Crystal Lake Central, scoring five touchdowns in one night to lead a rout of CLC, ending a 13 game losing streak.

Then, the Rams beat up Lake Zurich, giving the team a momentum swing going into perennial powerhouse McHenry and their undefeated season.

That's when the streak came to an end. Grayslake lost a tough one to McHenry, but looked like a good team in the loss. The Rams averaged a net yardage of 5.7 yards per play and proved that they were a willing participant in the toughest conference around.

"I'm very proud of the way the kids played against McHenry," Dillon said in post game conferences. "I feel we competed very well against McHenry and I feel we can compete in this conference."

Call it a carry-over effect, but the Rams lost the final game of the year to Crystal Lake South by a score of 19-16.

Yet, all in all, Dillon calls the year a success.

"We played pretty well against all the teams in the conference," Dillon said. "We will be building on this for the years to come."

However, next year's rebuilding project will be huge. The three big losses that Grayslake will have to overcome for next year include losing Frank, senior defensive captain and all conference player Wes Anderson and defensive run stopper Adam Perigren. But, the one key returning player from this year is junior starting quarterback Willie Wright.

"We need some juniors to step in for next year, while some sophomores will step in for starters. Also, we'll probably call up some freshmen to plug some holes."

Dillon is looking forward to next year. "It's a challenge every week, and that's what makes it fun," Dillon said. "Our offense will change and our defense will change with the kids that are playing. But that's what makes this fun. You put everything together, put the kids on the field and let them play."

J.C. Harrington named Lakeland Player of the Year

Harrington looks to lead Wildcats deep into state playoffs

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

Last year Libertyville went 8-1 in the regular season and dropped out of the playoffs in the second round. This year, the Wildcats went 9-0 in the regular season, and after a 45-0 win in the first round, many people predict to see Libertyville in the state title game at the end of November. The reason: J.C. Harrington.

Harrington, a second-year starter at quarterback for the Wildcats, is a seasoned senior passer on an unbelievably balanced Libertyville football team. Last year, Harrington took his lumps and learned from his mistakes. He finished the year with 995 yards on 80-157 passing and threw for four touchdowns.

This year, a much improved and more mature passer, Harrington led area passers with 1,385 yards through the air and 13 touchdowns. Remarkably, Harrington was by no means the only option for the offense, and could have easily thrown for near 2,000 yards and 20 TDs on the year.

But Harrington remained the relaxed, veteran quarterback that Libertyville needed to off-set its strong running game led by Matt Treutelaar.

"He is much improved (over last year) in every area. In the off-season he really worked on getting bigger and stronger in the weight room. Every aspect of his game is better," said Libertyville's varsity head football coach Randy Kuceyeski.

Kuceyeski and the rest of the Wildcats' football program has benefited from Harrington's varied skills, and Kuceyeski, in particular, is very pleased with the well-roundedness of his star quarterback.

"His strength is his work ethic and athletic ability. The combination of those two things has made him a big part of this team," said Kuceyeski. "He is maybe the finest young man we've had come through our school. In his studies, community service, school activities, I don't know how anyone could do more than he has."

And Harrington's mettle as a person translates into a strong leader on the football field, in the weight room and in the classroom.

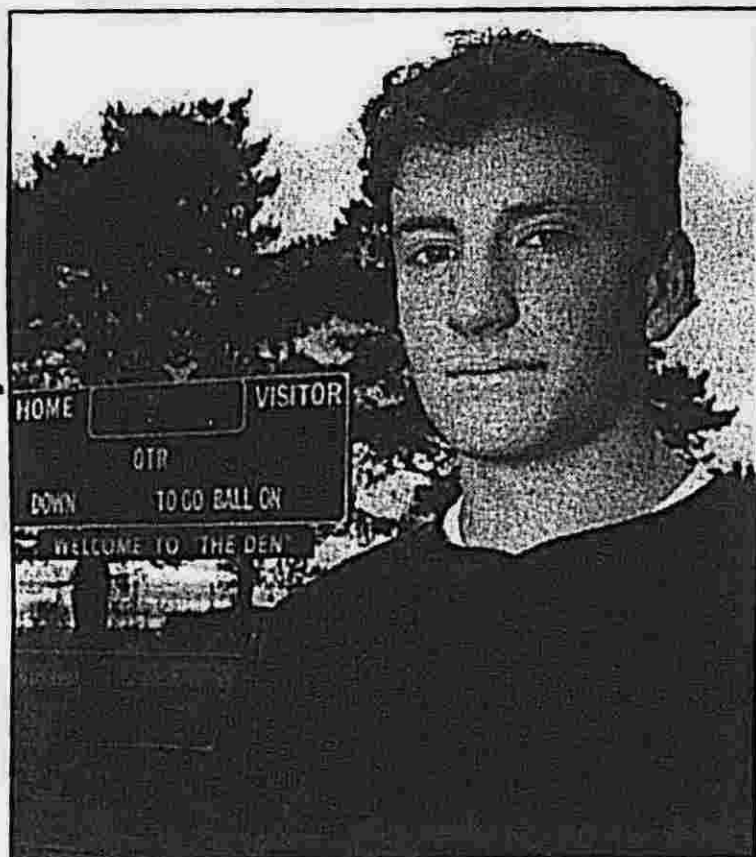

"He's not a real vocal leader, but he leads by example. Again, it's his work ethic that people see and it makes them work that much harder," said Kuceyeski.

Harrington's tends to let the game come to him, like so many coaches preach to their quarterbacks, and with the Libertyville ground game, he has the luxury of being patient enough to do that. The first round of the playoffs was a great example of that.

Harrington threw just 11 passes for 127 yards, but he completed eight and three were for touchdowns. Just another day at the office.

"He instilled a lot of confidence in the offense (during the year). Everyone expected him to do well, and he proved them all right. He exceeded everyone's expectations," said Kuceyeski.

Harrington still has one goal he wants to achieve, the ultimate goal: a state championship. And if he approaches this year's playoff run as he has everything else in his high school career, Libertyville will be sitting atop the heap, with a state title in the trophy case.

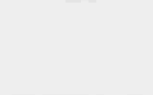

Libertyville quarterback J.C. Harrington led the Wildcats to a 9-0 regular season and the NSC title, and hopes to do the same in the playoffs, culminating in a state title for the Wildcats.

Blaze beat Eagles 3-0

The Lindenhurst Blaze U-9 boys soccer team finished off their fall league play with their 5th shutout of the season as they defeated the Chicago AAC Eagles 3-0 at Forest View Park. With the victory, the Blaze assured themselves of second place in their division.

The Blaze lost the flip of the coin and the Eagles elected to take the wind for the first half. The first quarter saw the Blaze get numerous scoring chances but they failed to put the ball into the net. The second quarter was much the same and the half ended with the game tied 0-0.

The second half was a different story as the Blaze got the wind and their first lead of the game at 8:00 of the third quarter when Kurt Houghton put in a rebound off a shot by Kyle Sytsma. The Blaze had the pressure on the Eagles goalie as they outshot them 8-0 in the third quarter. In the fourth quarter, the Blaze continued their offensive pressure with 12 more shots at goal which resulted into two unassisted booming shots by Colin O'Malley. The Eagles goalie kept the game from getting out of hand all day as he constantly kept forwards Tommy Sewart, Sytsma, Alex Kelley and Connor O'Keefe from scoring.

As it has been all season, the defense of the Blaze was outstanding. They have only allowed 11 goals in 10 games for the entire season. They were led by Brian Hook, Ethan Hahn, Matt Laine, Brian Mooney, and Andrew Stein. Chris Church, Stein, and Sewart shared the goalkeeping duties for the Blaze. The Blaze were coached by Bill Houghton and John Sytsma.

U-19 Power tie Speed 0-0

The Lindenhurst Power drove down the road to take on the Lake Forest Speed and returned home with a 0-0 tie. Despite out-shooting Lake Forest and controlling the play for most of the game, the Power was unable to dent the Lake Forest net.

The offensive hustle of Teri LaRoche and Jamie Wismer resulted in several shots that all went just inches wide, and Sarah Richardson sent a hard shot off the cross bar.

Several non-calls failed to yield any penalty kick opportunities for the Power, while also giving Lake Forest several breakaway opportunities on the other end of the field. Kristina Giangiorgi made 14 saves, two of them on point blank breakaways, to earn the shutout. Jenny Barbera, Christy Plotz and Kristen Gamlin headed up the defensive effort. The Power is now 11-7-2 on the season.

Vikings advance to conference semifinals

The Antioch Vikings won four of four games played. The Lightweight and heavyweight advanced to the conference semi-finals while the PeeWees and featherweights won their final regular season games.

On a soggy field in Mundelein, the Antioch Raider featherweights shut out the Warren Blue Demons 12-0 and won their fifth game of the year. In seven games played, the featherweights have allowed just 19 total points. Antioch scored on its first possession as Tyler Artelt scored on a 37 yard end around. Mike Kroepfl added a second TD on a 5-yard run. Kroepfl also had an interception. The defense recorded another shut out and had three fumble recoveries—one each by A.J. Johnson, Frank Angoli, and John Ring.

The Antioch PeeWees won their sixth game of the season—37-0 over Warren White. Jo Jo Johnson scored three TDs and Kevin Barrett added two more TDs. A sixth touchdown was scored on a 65 yard pass play to Brandon Geweke. The defense held Warren to minus yardage and was led by Ty Ankney, Bubba Houghton, Ty Bynum, Mike Wegrzyn, Jo Jo Johnson. Bynum had a fumble recovery. The PeeWees will battle Fox Lake in the semi-finals of the conference playoffs at Mundelein High School.

The Antioch Viking lightweights had another easy time in defeating Mundelein 27-0 in first round league playoff action. It was the teams 62nd straight win. Running back Taylor Hosick scored a pair of touchdowns in leading the Vikings offensive game. QB Tony Weyenberg scored a third Antioch TD on a QB sneak, and Tim Veach added a fourth touchdown on a 27 yard run. The offensive line controlled the line of scrimmage and was led by Brian Wood, Eric Worrell, James Larson, Josh Paddock, Andrew Homer, Tim Veach and Luke Davis. Mundelein managed just three first downs as strong defensive games were turned in by Brett Bairstow, Jeff Canella, Nick Diddel, Justin Cary, Matt Houtari, Larson, Veach, Hosick, Paddock, Mike Decker and Adam Lehn.

The Antioch heavyweights won their fifth game of the year—a hard fought 7-0 victory over Highland Park. The Vikings Jim Breen recovered a high park fumbles late in the first half. Then Brandon Zeimann scored the only TD. The Viking defensive unit then shut the door on and Highland Park drives. Defensive standouts were Scott Gerke, Brian Flore, Jason Kaminsky, Ken Barth, Breen, Travis Mumm—who intercepted a Highland Park pass late in the game, Chase Saldivar. The offensive line of Chris Becker, Russell Zigoraski, Tim Lorenzini, Brian Flore, and Nick Arnold played well.

Jurors and juvenile crime were the focus of remarks by Raymond J. McKoski, Chief Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit, at a recent meeting of the Antioch Rotary Club.

Judges of the judicial circuit have published a pamphlet for employers to help them better understand the role of jurors and their participation in trials.

McKoski described differences of juvenile case work today compared to earlier decades.

The first full week of October was Jury Services Appreciation Week in the 19th Judicial Circuit. It is an opportunity to express appreciation to jurors for the services they give to the democratic process.

McKoski said that the judicial system could not function without them coming in to serve. "We do appreciate all the service of jurors."

Of 19,000 people annually called to serve on a jury, only 6,600 actually serve as jurors. The average trial by jury lasts 2.5 days.

The pamphlet states that requests to postpone service are considered on an individual basis. There is an employer information line: 847-360-6341.

Back in the 1970s, one judge assigned to a juvenile case load recalled that he had one case in his two years as a juvenile judge that involved a gun. Today, the juvenile case load is dramatically different.

According to McKoski, there are juveniles in detention this month for: aggravated sexual assault, aggravated battery, aggravated discharge of a firearm (which means that the gun was aimed at someone), robbery (by an 11-year-old), arsons, attempted murder, theft of a firearm, and aggravated battery to a school employ-

U-19 Lindenhurst Power tie Speed 0-0

The Lindenhurst Power drove down the road to take on the Lake Forest Speed and returned home with a 0-0 tie. Despite out-shooting Lake Forest and controlling the play for most of the game, the Power was unable to dent the Lake Forest net.

The offensive hustle of Teri

LaRoche and Jamie Wismer resulted in several shots that all went just inches wide, and Sarah Richardson sent a hard shot off the cross bar.

Several non-calls failed to yield any penalty kick opportunities for the Power, while also giving Lake Forest several breakaway opportunities on the other end of the field. Kristina Giangorgi made 14 saves, two of them on point blank breakaways, to earn the shutout. Jenny Barbera, Christy Plotz and Kristen Gamlin headed up the defensive effort. The Power is now 11-7-2 on the season.

Wetland sanctuary seminar highlights education use

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Volunteers turned out to learn and work at the William E. Brook Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center on Saturday, Oct. 10.

It is the first public education event at the developing downtown sanctuary area. Informal events and Arbor Day observances by the village have been held during previous seasons to plant trees in the area.

A similar workshop and seminar is planned for next Spring, according to village officials.

Between 50 and 75 people turned out for the field seminar and workshop session conducted by Dr. John Larson of Applied Ecological Services, Inc.

"Dr. John Larson gave an excellent talk on the background of the history of our wetlands, the clean-up, the restoration, and then the invasive species of plants and bushes," said Claude LeMere, community development director.

Parents, children, and scout troops later worked on the site to clear invasive species.

"An important part of the wetlands is involvement with the schools and parents," he said. It provides a wetland education area that can teach how wetlands work and survive.

"The spring (seminar and workshop) will involve planting of aquatic and upland vegetation," LeMere said. "The wetlands are a garden you plant in the Spring. It must remain undisturbed while it regenerates itself."

The wetland sanctuary area is not expected to be a passive recreation experience all year round. A boardwalk now under construction will provide access during the growing seasons.

"Once the boardwalks and walking paths are completed, those will be the only areas that will be open to foot traffic."

"The other portion of the wetland will avail itself, during the winter when it is dormant, as a recreational facility," LeMere said. Frozen ponds will provide skating areas.

"So, basically, we are giving to the wetlands, during the growing season, the peace and serenity that is required for this natural filtering system to rejuvenate itself. And the wetlands will give back to us, when it is dormant, a wonderful winter recreation area."

The William E. Brook Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center is at Orchard Street and Skidmore Street.

Talking Health

by Dr. Scott Reiser, D.C.

HOW TO BUILD UP YOUR BONES

Osteoporosis is a condition that can disfigure and disable women, but much can be done to prevent it. Most of us are aware that calcium "builds strong bones", and have some idea that enough dietary calcium and/or calcium supplements will reduce bone porosity. While both dietary and supplemental calcium are important, other nutritional considerations are equally significant.

The high phosphorous content of meats encourages bone loss, so women should consider reducing their consumption of animal protein and substituting grain, vegetable, and dairy proteins. High fiber intake can cause calcium to pass unabsorbed through the system. This does not mean eliminating fiber from the diet, but it is important to take calcium supplements apart from high fiber meals. And both coffee and alcohol greatly increase the risk of osteoporosis.

Along with diet, exercise is the most important way to combat osteoporosis. Any physical activity that places stress on the long bones, thus increasing their mass, is excellent, such as jogging, high-impact aerobics, hiking, even walking. Ask your chiropractor for measures which guarantee good general health and also combat osteoporosis.

If maintaining your health and reducing stress is important to you, call Round Lake Beach Chiropractic at 847-740-2800 to make an initial, no obligation consultation with Dr. Scott G. Reiser. Our clinic is located at 314 Rollins Road, Round Lake Beach (Eagle Creek Plaza - corner of Cedar Lake and Rollins Roads.)

Waterway works to mitigate problems

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

The Fox Waterway Agency Board of Directors is planning to discuss ways to mitigate a problem the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has with the agency.

Executive Director Ingrid R. Enriquez said she is currently working on ways to repair the situation and have the agency's 10-year maintenance dredging permit returned.

The permit has been on hold since Sept. 25, when the agency voluntarily stopped work on a dredging project in a channel near the Cary Country Club on Route 14. Enriquez said they stopped the project after learning there were no permits to do the work.

Project Manager Roy Gundelach was fired by the agency's board the day before, and the agency is continuing to look for a replacement.

The agency has a contract with homeowners along the Mildred Avenue channel to have the channel width at a maximum 25 feet, she said.

The project was expanding it to 30 feet, and was sculpting the steep channel banks from their natural 45-60 degree angles to a steep 90-degree angle, Enriquez said.

"This area is very steep," she said. "As they were widening the channel, the walls started to cave in," she said.

The Corps has agreed to allow the agency to perform two or three projects from a list of five provided by the Corps, instead of paying a heavy fine.

"The Corps is willing to work with us on mitigation," Enriquez said. "Our permit is on hold, it will not be revoked." The agency received its 10-year permit in October of 1996.

The agency's board is holding a Committee of the Whole meeting Thursday, Nov. 5, at 6 p.m. at the agency offices in Fox Lake, to discuss the two major violations—dredging outside the scope of the agency's permit with the Corps and placing fill in the mouth of the Fox River.

The Mildred Avenue channel extends 1,200 feet inland from the west bank of the Fox River.

As far as the Cary project is concerned, the agency needs to submit an after-the-fact permit for the work already completed, and a new permit for the work that needs to be completed, Enriquez said.

That should take about a months time to do, at which point the repair work should start, and be completed in about one month and a half's time, she said.

"Even under the best of circumstances, this channel would be quite difficult to dredge," she said.

It's like magic: This store turns your unwanted stuff into cash

There's a store in Mundelein called Cash Converters, and for more than a year now it has been performing its "magic." Cash Converters is an international business (now in 25 countries with more than 500 stores) and as the name implies, it converts your unwanted items into cash. Best of all, the store performs its magic right on the spot. Walk in with that old TV, stereo, or breadmaker, and walk out with cash.

This store, as noted by the Franchisees, Gail and Bob Brodsky, fills the gap for those who don't want to bother with a garage sale and those who just don't know how or where to sell that certain item. With Cash Converters, there's none of the garage sale hassles—the cost of advertising, pricing your items, strangers at your home, and the time you spend attending to these details.

Says Gail, "Our customers are happy to know that they have not only an outlet for the items that they no longer want, but a means to help pay for a new one. We understand that coming to a store like ours is a new experience for most people, and we work to make them feel extra comfortable."

It must be working since Cash Converters has an incredibly high number of repeat customers.

Cash Converters buys all types of electronic items, computers, cameras, musical instruments, small kitchen appliances, sporting goods, tools, and car audio systems. Price is no object—the store buys it!

Of course, the merchandise the store buys is then sold at the store. How can you be sure the item you're buying is in good working order? Cash Converters has a 30-day guarantee on its merchandise, so you're covered. Customers are able to buy quality items at a fraction of the original cost, and they may take advantage of the store's layaway plan.

Cash Converters' stores have become quite an attraction. "We have many folks who come in just to see the amazing assortment of items we have," says Bob Brodsky. "With such a constantly changing inventory, our customers want to see what's new since the last time they visited."

If you're looking to buy something and Cash Converters doesn't have it, Gail, Bob, and their staff will keep an eye open for the item and contact you when they get it.

Cash Converters is located in Townline Shopping Center at the intersection of Routes 45 (Lake Street) and Route 60 (Townline Road) right next to the Jewel-Osco. The store is open every day, including Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

There also are Cash Converters in Hoffman Estates, Prospect Heights, and DesPlaines, IL and Seattle, Boston, London, Paris, and other cities around the world. For more information, please call (847) 837-1100.

Gurnee baker turns homemade goodies into home-based business

By KORRINA GROM
Staff Reporter

Her home is a dessert-lover's heaven. The enticing aroma of fresh-baked cookies floats through the air, while chocolate-covered pretzels adorn the kitchen table.

You've just entered the home of "Just Desserts" owner Carol Senter, who attends culinary school at the Cooking and Hospitality Institute of Chicago (CHIC).

Senter, who grew up in Libertyville, operates a baking company out of her Gurnee home, making six different kinds of cheesecake, as well as an array of cookies, strudels, and tarts. She said her talent for baking comes from her mother, Marianne Napoleoni.

"My mother made unbelievable things, fabulous things," Senter said. "She worked really hard at making desserts."

Senter's sister also baked, often for employees, and gave Senter many of the recipes she now uses.

Senter enjoyed baking while working for Baxter as a legal secretary, often bringing her creations to work. She has been making cheesecakes for 15 years, which she always brought to dinner parties.

"People kept telling me that the cheesecakes were really good," Senter said. "They said I should sell them."

The need to stay home with her two young children inspired Senter to begin her baking business.

"So many people are so set on making their fortunes that they miss out on the important things," Senter said. "I decided to start this business so I could stay home with my kids and use the knowledge I learned from attending culinary school."

Her business boomed from there. While Senter enjoyed making free desserts for friends, the baking started to cost money. That was when Senter decided to begin selling her products.

"If I create a cheesecake for a dinner party of eight people, and one of those people needs a cheesecake for a party, then my business spreads," Senter said. "Word-of-mouth has really helped."

Senter charges $28 for an eight-inch round cheesecake, which she says is extremely reasonable.

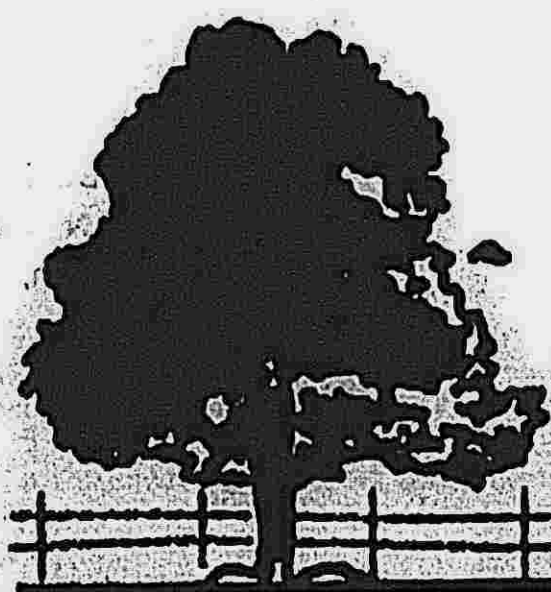

"I make my cheesecakes so you can cut them into many pieces," Senter said. "A single cheesecake can be cut into 30 small pieces."

After requests from her clients, Senter also began making gift baskets.

"I use things out of my own kitchen, all fresh-baked," Senter said. "I make my own things, and that's what sets me apart."

She also creates "care packages"

'Angel Street' opens Nov. 13

"Angel Street," a Victorian melodrama packed with intrigue, mystery and suspense, will be presented by the College of Lake County's theatre department in November. The play will open at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 13 in the Studio Theatre of the Manningham, a handsome but sinister man, pretends kindness but slowly tortures his gentle, lovely wife into insanity. The play takes an intriguing twist as an unexpected caller from Scotland Yard convinces Mrs. Manningham of her husband's involvement in a murder 15 years earlier and, together, they solve the mystery in an exciting and shrewd fashion.

The CLC production is directed by Eibhlín Glennon, an English and theater instructor at CLC. Set design is by theatre instructor Thomas Mitchell. Tickets to the play are $6 for CLC students, alumni and seniors age 65 and over and $8 for the general public. Call 543-2300 for tickets. TASTE: Gurnee baker uses finest ingredients for goodies for parents to send to their children who are away at college. Senter said she gets many requests for these packages.

The ingredients Senter uses to create her desserts are another thing which set her apart from your everyday bakery. She uses all-natural ingredients while baking.

"I make everything from scratch," Senter said. "For example, I use only butter in my baking."

While butter can run upwards of $4.50 per pound, Senter will not compromise the taste of her desserts by using margarine.

She also picks her own raspberries and strawberries that are used for her cheesecakes, strudels, and tarts. Her raspberries are picked from Glunz Farms in Grayslake.

"Raspberries lose their aroma 24 hours after you pick them," Senter said. "Who knows how long raspberries at the store have been there."

For nutrition-conscious people, Senter offers the following advice.

"Just eat less," Senter said. "Why should we waste calories on something mediocre? My cheesecakes, for example, are designed for small pieces."

Senter's 40 clients seem to appreciate all the hard work she puts into baking her desserts. While some are only one-time customers, Senter appreciates it when customers call back to buy more. Some clients have called Senter to bake desserts for parties of 100 or more.

"It's very important for me to serve someone a good, quality product," Senter said.

Weather, however, is one thing that can compromise a good dessert. Senter said she was baking an apple strudel for a party several weeks ago. Outside, the temperature was 90 degrees, and there was 100 percent humidity. Too much humidity, Senter said, can turn a strudel to mush.

"Those things panic me," Senter said. "I get really anal about those things."

However, through the wonderful days of baking, and those where the weather just won't cooperate, Senter said her husband John has been 100 percent supportive.

"The whole thing has overwhelmed him," Senter said. "But he has always been whatever I wanted him to be."

After 14 years of marriage, Senter's husband remains the "rock" of the house. He helps out whenever Senter needs him, and Senter said she couldn't do this without him.

"I wish there were hundreds more of him so I could introduce them to my friends," Senter said, with tears in her eyes. "He is a truly phenomenal person."

Support and talent have carried Senter a long way. Her love for what she does has carried her even further.

"We do what works around here," Senter said. "It's working for us so far."

For most desserts, Senter requires a couple days notice. For bigger parties, she requests that customers call one to two weeks in advance so she can get fresh ingredients.

Anyone interested in trying Senter's mouth-watering desserts should call her at (847) 336-6339.

"What I do is unique, with home-baked goods," Senter said. "And I do bake well."

THE DISNEY INSTITUTE THE ULTIMATE EXPERIENCE

by JIM WARNKEN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

It may not be for everyone, but if you're one of the thousands of "Disney-facs" have we got a vacation for you!

After years of planning, Disney has come up with a completely new concept in vacation resorts for those who want more than just an ordinary Disney World vacation.

The totally new Disney Institute, at Walt Disney Resorts in Florida, offers visitors an authentic, hands-on, Disney experience.

Here's the setting.

Imagine a quaint village green with an outdoor amphitheater, cinema, performance center, sports and fitness center, spa and user-friendly audio-visual studio workshop tucked away in a tranquil lakeside enclave, all at the edge of an 18-hole championship golf course.

Now let's look at a typical day.

After breakfast, you stop by the cinema to watch a Disney "film-in-progress." You engage in a conversation with the director who explains character development in the film.

Your daughter is busy "creating" in the Animation Workshop while your son is off scaling the heights of the Rockwall at the fitness center.

Your spouse is off having her golf swing videotaped and analyzed by the golf pro; the results of which will be seen later that afternoon out on the course.

After lunch, you stroll over to the culinary studios for your Food Wonders of the World session where a master chef helps you learn to prepare a French specialty called Mirepoix.

Later, it's time to relax with a Swedish massage at the spa where any stress you may have brought from home soon melts away.

After dinner, you head to the performance center for a musical stage show where you, as one of the dozen "artists-in-residence", are a character in the story.

One thing I found appealing is that you plan your own day. Disney has provided something for everyone. Singles, couples and families will all find much to interest them, but each visitor can do his own thing.

The Disney Institute is also designed so each guest gets individual attention, thus the number of visitors is very limited. The message here is "book early."

When it comes to the afterlife, you're on your own

If you haven't had a chance to go see it yet, you may want to catch "What Dreams May Come" in the movie theaters before its run is over. Whatever your tastes are, it is a feast for the eyes, and you will leave the theater thinking about what heaven and hell means to you.

Which is exactly what I did, because the movie's premise is that you will experience "heaven" and "hell" as an extension of your own dreams and/or nightmares. Of course, if you're like Robin Williams, the star of the film, you'll dream up a really cool heaven that looks like a magnificent painting, literally dripping with beauty.

I, on the other hand, am probably not yet in touch with my inner "artistic self," because I would have a hard time enjoying a heaven full of dripping paint. I'd be wondering just what kind of laundry detergent I'd need to get that stuff out of my clothes. Not to mention the nasty footprints it would leave on the floors of my house. And I certainly wouldn't want my children with me in that sort of place - the finger-painting possibilities would give me nightmares.

Still, it's fun to imagine what kind of place my "heaven" might be like. Or my "hell," just in case:

This could be my heaven:

1. My "house" resembles a fairy tale cottage, built on land that overlooks the Pacific ocean, landscaped

Ed Hall's Woodstock Guitar Night

Six highly accomplished musicians will appear in concert at the Woodstock Opera House for Ed Hall's Woodstock Guitar Night. The concert will be on Saturday, Nov. 28, beginning at 8 p.m.

Edgar Cruz from Oklahoma City, Okla., is best known for his unusual arrangements for fingerstyle guitar. "Tequila," "Wipe Out," "Live and Let Die," and Queens' "Bohemian Rhapsody" are a few of the arrangements in his repertoire. Cruz is also an accomplished classical guitarist.

Don Stienberg is a mandolin virtuoso from Skokie. Don is a protégé of the late great mandolinist Jethro Burns, spending many hours as a partner, accompanist and friend. Stienberg is one of the most sought after musicians in the Midwest for studio work, and performs with many bands. Don will be accompanied by the great jazz guitarist John Parrott.

Jeff Friedlander from Evanston won the Telluride Bluegrass Festival fingerstyle guitar contest and the Gamble Rogers Music Festival fingerstyle guitar contest. His guitar work enhances his original compositions and fine singing voice.

Eric Lugosch won the National Fingerpicking Championship in 1985 and is an accomplished composer and technician for fingerstyle guitar. From Chicago, Lugosch is known for his fine arrangements of Reverend Gary Davis blues music and ragtime.

with beautiful rose and tulip gardens, and surrounded by a forest of Douglas fir and oak trees, where deer, rabbits and other gentle creatures from Disney movies roam. There are no bees, spiders, ticks, mosquitoes, or telephone solicitors.

2. My husband is wearing something other than jeans and a flannel, is bored with TV and fishing, and keeps surprising me with gifts - that I actually like.

3. I call my mother and ask "How are you?" and she says, "Fine."

4. A major studio is doing a remake of "The Wizard of Oz," I wrote the script, and they want me to play the Wicked Witch of the West (my dream role).

5. The NBA lockout is over, Jordan and the rest are back, and I have front-row season tickets.

6. I have household help: there's Mel Gibson, my personal secretary; John Travolta, my dance instructor; Tom Cruise, my bartender; Michael Jordan, my personal trainer; Arnold Schwarzenegger, my nanny; Corky Abear, my housekeeper (hey - no one cleans like my mother-in-law), and last but not least - my chef, Paul Newman.

7. I'm thin (who wouldn't be, with a chef who only makes spaghetti sauce and vinegar and oil salad dressing).

8. My husband and I take romantic trips together to other countries, where they love tourists, fishing has been outlawed, and they speak a language other than, "Ya, hey dere."

9. My children, when they aren't making me cute little cards, are playing outside in our backyard, together, without fighting, and they have a limited vocabulary - "Yes, Mom" and "Please play one of your Bonnie Raitt CDs - and sing along loud enough for us to hear you."

10. The only phone calls I get are from the Pulitzer people, Oprah, and the Publisher's Clearinghouse prize patrol.

If this is hell, count me out:

1. The phone never stops ringing, and every time I answer it, there's a strange voice that says, "Can I speak to Mrs...Abeer?"

2. I receive the same two pieces of mail every day - one is an audit notice from the IRS, and the other is a form rejection letter from a publishing house.

3. My children have a limited vocabulary: "What's for dinner?" and "I know you are, but what am I?"

4. There are only two channels on TV - one showing reruns of the O. J. Simpson trial, and the other showing "The Best of Jerry Springer."

5. I call my mother on the phone, and when I say "How are you?", she tells me. In detail.

6. Whenever I try to drive my car, I find myself behind a sport utility vehicle driven by a man with a short temper who is speaking on a cellular phone while drinking the remainder of a twelve-pack.

7. My husband not only can't remember my birthday - he can't remember my name.

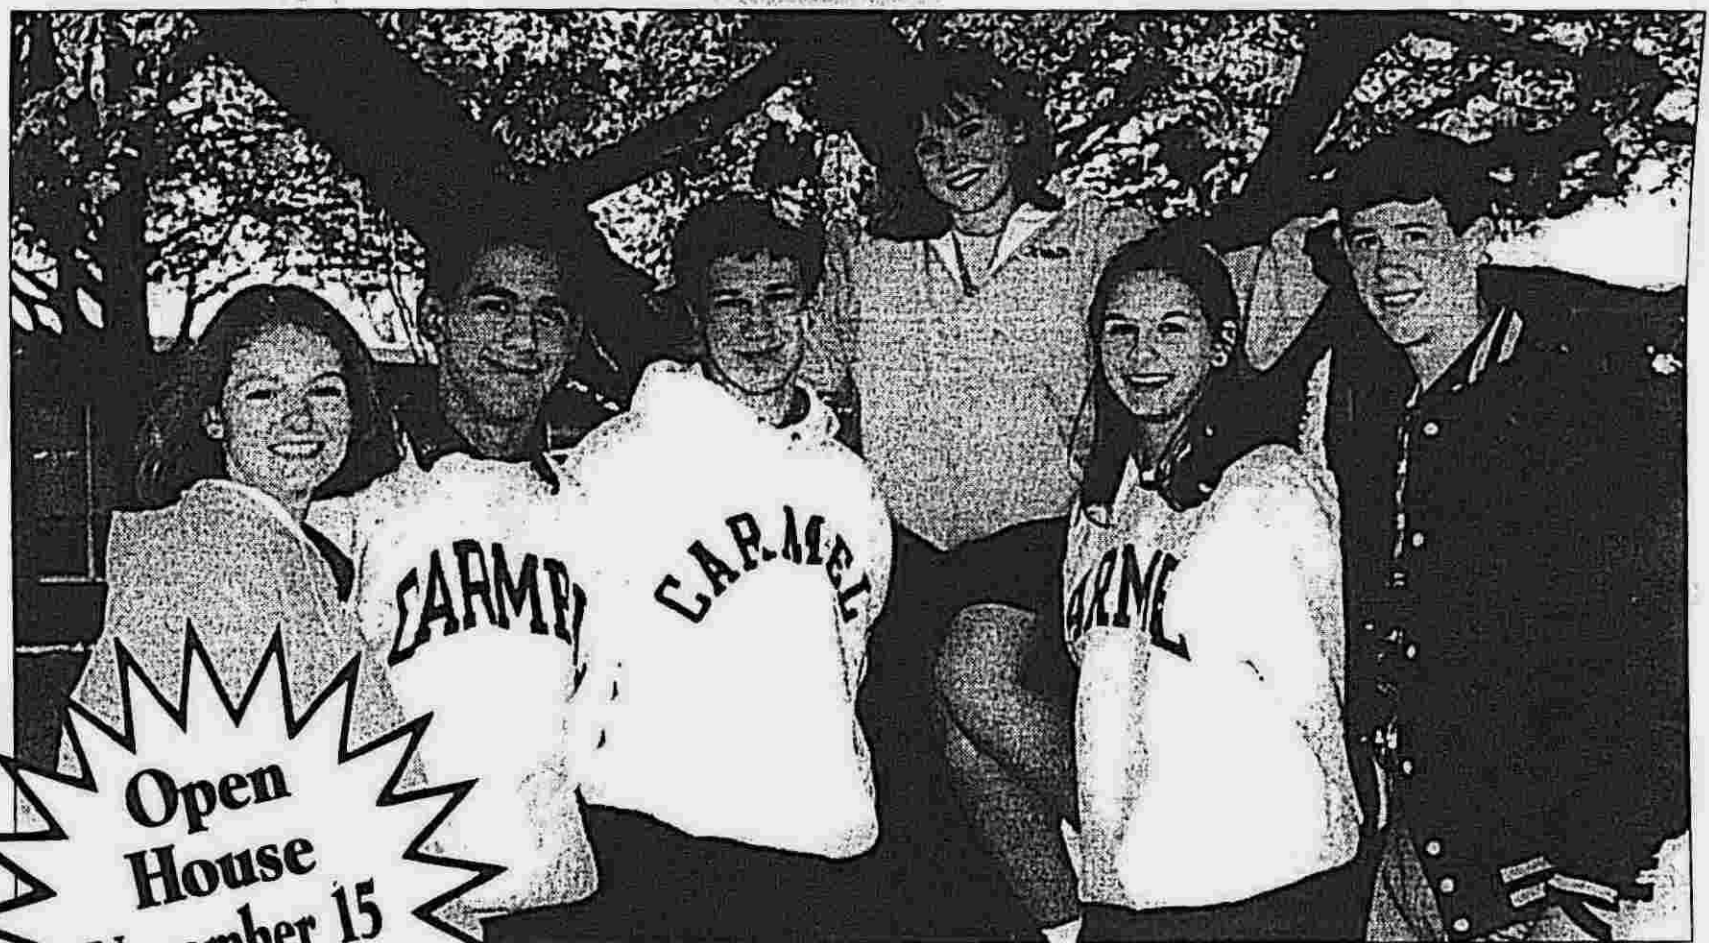

8. My house is overrun with dust bunnies - and they're alive. Our only furnishings consist of stained and unmatched furniture, broken toys, and stuffed dead fish.

9. Every time the doorbell rings, it's a neighbor, wanting to borrow something.

10. Our neighbors are Charles Manson and Jeffrey Dahmer.

John Carpenter's 'Vampires' really does stink

Vampires is an appropriate title for John Carpenter's new film because it leaves you feeling like you have just had the life sucked from your body.

Watching this movie is about as enjoyable as having someone drive a wooden stake through your heart, or at least leaves you wishing someone would.

The premise for the movie sounded intriguing enough. It is loosely based on actual history.

In the 1300s there was a Roman Catholic priest named Valek who was denounced from the church for his unorthodox ways.

He formed his own sect to rebel against the church. He was arrested and an attempted exorcism was performed before he was burned at the stake. At the time of his execution he was in possession of a black cross which the Vatican confiscated and still keeps hidden in Vatican archives.

That much is supposedly true and "Vampires" uses the story as the premise for the movie. In the film Valek is the original vampire and he is searching the world for the black cross. If he finds it, vampires will be able to walk during the day and rule the world.

The premise sounded promising enough but unfortunately the result stinks as bad as a clove of garlic.

The film is set in the American Southwest and at times has the feel of a cheesy western. Only in this case it is mixed with a cheesy vampire flick.

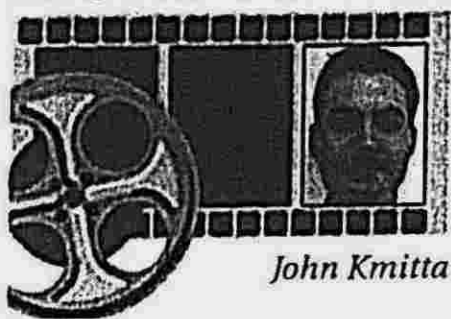

James Woods is Jack Crow, the head of a team of vampire killers hired by the Vatican to rid the world of the undead and stop the vampires before they get the cross.

Woods, as always, does a great job of delivering his lines but he is hard to picture as the hard-nosed tough guy savior.

Crow and his team are the best at what they do. They are equipped with state of the art crossbows and other assorted weaponry. Unfortunately for them, Valek is more powerful than any vampire they have ever seen.

Daniel Baldwin, as Crow's right-hand man Montoya, gives a lethargic

movie review

performance making the film seem dull.

If anyone steals the show it is Tim Guinee as Father Adam, the priest who finds the courage to help slay vampires. He seems like more of a real person than Crow or Montoya because he shows his fear and overcomes it.

The movie does have action but it also drags along at points making the annoying rock-guitar soundtrack even more noticeable.

There are some creepy moments but it is not so much scary as it is gory.

This film is definitely not for those easily sickened by the sight of blood. There are on-screen decapitations and mutilations but none of this is really scary. It is more like watching a film about special effects with the extreme amounts of fake blood and the overused pyrotechnics of vampires burning up in the sunlight.

John Carpenter's "Halloween" was scarier than "Vampires."

If you want to see a better vampire film see "Blade" with Wesley Snipes. It is a much more stylish film with a better plot and will leave you feeling pumped full of adrenaline rather than sucked dry of blood.

I give John Carpenter's "Vampires" one and a half out of five popcorn boxes.

If You Think Finding One of America's Best Hospitals Means Going to a Big City, Think Again.

Midwestern Regional Medical Center Received One of the Nation's Highest Ratings for Quality Care.

When it comes to healthcare which is personalized, compassionate and truly focused on your needs, Midwestern Regional Medical Center is the clear choice.

Our 95-bed hospital, located in a park-like setting with easy access and ample parking, has set the standard nationwide for excellence and innovation. In 1996, Midwestern received a rating of 99 out of 100 by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations, ranking the hospital among the top four percent of all hospitals in the United States.

That remarkable accomplishment reflects a commitment to medical excellence and quality care by 300 physicians, nurses and other exceptional caregivers. Our patients tell us time and again that we're like no other hospital - that they're treated like individual people, caring for them body, mind and soul.

Ming's means Oriental dining at its best

For three years, Chih Ming Lin has welcomed Lake County's lovers of fine Chinese food to Ming's of China, located at 5572 Grand Ave. in Gurnee, where they have enjoyed the best Mandarin and Szechwan cuisine.

The mysterious Orient has never been more apparent than in Ming's secret recipes and the special sauces that make the food he serves different from any other Chinese restaurant.

Ming and his extremely courteous and well-trained staff continue to prove that Ming's is an excellent choice, whether their patrons prefer to dine in the restaurant's authentic and casual atmosphere, or take a delicious carry-out order home.

For more than 20 years, Ming has served the finest Oriental cuisine, specializing in many original Mandarin and Szechwan recipes handed down from his father, whose Chinese culinary expertise grew from 50 years of experience in Chinese food preparation.

Ming opened Ming's of China at 1941 E. Algonquin Rd. in Schaumburg eight years ago, bringing his culinary skills to Gurnee in 1995.

No other Chinese restaurant can offer the vast array of special entrees that include Ming's Sizzling Plate, or Ming's Special Lo Mein, Pan Fried Noodles or General Tso's Chicken, served in an unusual and very spicy sauce. More secret preparations are employed in creating Ming's exclusive House Salad.

Ming invites everyone to enjoy his fantastic Sunday Buffet, served from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for $9.95. The infinite variety of delectables includes Honey Shrimp, BBQ Ribs, four chicken and two beef, as well as five seafood dishes, three vegetables and four scrumptious desserts. All Sunday Buffet dishes are made with Ming's original sauces.

Adjacent to Ming's of China is the Grand Palace Banquet Center where a luxurious setting, palate pleasing American cuisine, and seating up to 250 make it everyone's first choice for that important party or banquet, from that "Wedding to Remember," to anniversary parties, business banquets and special celebrations. It isn't too early to make reservations for that holiday party extraordinaire. There are still a few open dates, and special pricing for weekday holiday parties, so call (847) 662-2929 for reservations without delay.

Ming's of China and the Grand Palace Banquet Center are easy to find since they are located just east of I-94, in front of the Hampton Inn, at the center of Lake County's entertainment Mecca. Ming's accepts all major credit cards. For more information, call (847) 662-5597.

Striving & Surviving cancer support group

The Lake County YWCA has announced the formation of the Striving & Surviving Breast Cancer Support Group, which cares for the needs of young women diagnosed with breast cancer. The group is facilitated by Tanya Johnson and Beverly McCray and is sponsored by the Midwestern Regional Medical Center and Cancer Treatment Centers of America in Zion.

There are hundreds of young women diagnosed with breast cancer every year. These breast cancer patients have unique needs, for example, who will care for their young children while they recover? The goal of the group is to provide support to the young breast cancer victim (diagnosed before age 45) that will include peer support, child care resources, and educational services.

Cancer does not have to be a death sentence, "There is life after chemotherapy and radiation."

For more information on meeting times and dates, call 662-4247.

7th Annual Festival of Trees to provide family fun

Join Conni Marie Brazelton of NBC-TV's "ER," at the Victory Hospital Foundation's "First Night in the Forest," at 6 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 18 at Midlane Country Club, 4555 Yorkhouse Rd., Wadsworth. This magical tree lighting and preview event launches the 7th Annual Festival of Trees, Lake County's holiday tradition. "First Night" is the only time to purchase the tree or wreath of your choice. You'll also meet Conni, be among the first to delight in the magic of the festival, browse the craft and gift shops, enjoy entertainment and partake of refreshments. Advanced tickets are $20 each and also allow one return visit to the festival at a later date. For tickets or for more information, call The Victory Development Department at 360-4248.

Beanies, Babies and Bears

It's a well known fact that you'll see some of the most unique holiday trees at the Victory Hospital Foundation's 7th Annual Festival of Trees, Nov. 18-22, at Midlane Country Club, 4555 Yorkhouse Road, Wadsworth. But sure to steal the show is the "Beanies, Babies and Bears" tree which will be on display in the festival's Enchanted Village gift shoppe.

Whoever said, "You can't get something for nothing" didn't know the folks at the festival. The "Beanies, Babies and Bears" tree is going to be won by someone who attends the Festival of Trees. Better yet, the winner won't have to spend a dime over the price of admission to win it. That's because one free raffle ticket for this special "Beanies, Babies and Bears" tree will be awarded with each paid admission to the 7th Annual Festival of Trees. Extra tickets will be available for sale during the festival in the gift shoppe, lower level of Midlane Country Club.

This unique holiday tree is decorated with a variety of Beanie Babies™ bears as well as teddy bears from the Russ Berrie™, Ty™ and Gund™ product lines. Topping the tree is Sherbert, the popular tie-dyed Pillow Pal™ bear. Among the Beanie Babies™ hanging out on the tree are Princess, Glory, Peace and the exclusive Clubby.

For a chance to win this special tree, festival goers should fill out their tree raffle tickets and drop them in the bin located in the Enchanted Village gift shoppe on the lower level of Midlane Country Club. While there, they'll notice the shops have a lot to offer besides the "Beanies, Babies and Bears" tree.

Nancy Merlock of Beach Park has gathered a dazzling array of gifts and household decorations from some of the nation's leading holiday product manufacturers. Her gift shoppe shelves will be filled with fanciful Santas and elegant angels, as well as snowmen of every description. From centerpieces to tree ornaments, wall hangings to pillows, holiday shoppers will find something of interest in the festival's gift shoppe. Included in this year's selections are

Club, 4555 Yorkhouse Road, Wadsworth. General festival admission is $4 for adults and $2 for senior citizens and children 12 and under.

In addition to the fabulous Enchanted Village gift shops, the Festival of Trees features over 70 designer decorated holiday trees and wreaths, a community tree competition, a bake shop filled with tasty holiday treats, dozens of talented entertainers, and Santa's Workshop of children's activities and crafts.

For more information on the 7th Annual Festival of Trees, call 360-4248, Monday through Friday, between 8 and 4:30 p.m.

How Safe is your Bottled Water?

Bottled water is a popular alternative for anyone concerned about the taste or safety of tap water. Here are some facts you should keep in mind when selecting a bottled water.

Some bottled waters come from the same source as your tap water, however this does not mean that they are of the same quality. Pay attention to the label. Bottled waters are required to indicate their sources, and many often specify what type of purification has been performed. Here are some definitions of the terms you will see:

Ozonation: disinfecting with ozone, and without the use of chemical additives.

Distillation: heating water until it converts to steam, which is then condensed and collected, leaving most of the contaminants behind.

Reverse Osmosis: forcing water through a membrane that allows only water molecules to pass through, while discharging contaminants to the drain.

Carbon Filtration: the physical and chemical adsorption of contaminants onto granular activated carbon or carbon blocks. This process is especially effective for removal of organic chemicals, some of which may be carcinogens.

Standards of Identity: The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has established Standards of Identity for all bottled waters. Labels must now indicate the category to which each bottled water belongs, which is dependent on the source of the water:

Artesian: from a well tapping a confined aquifer.

Mineral: naturally contains a mineral content of at least 250 ppm.

Purified: processed through distillation, deionization or reverse osmosis; (may come from a municipal source).

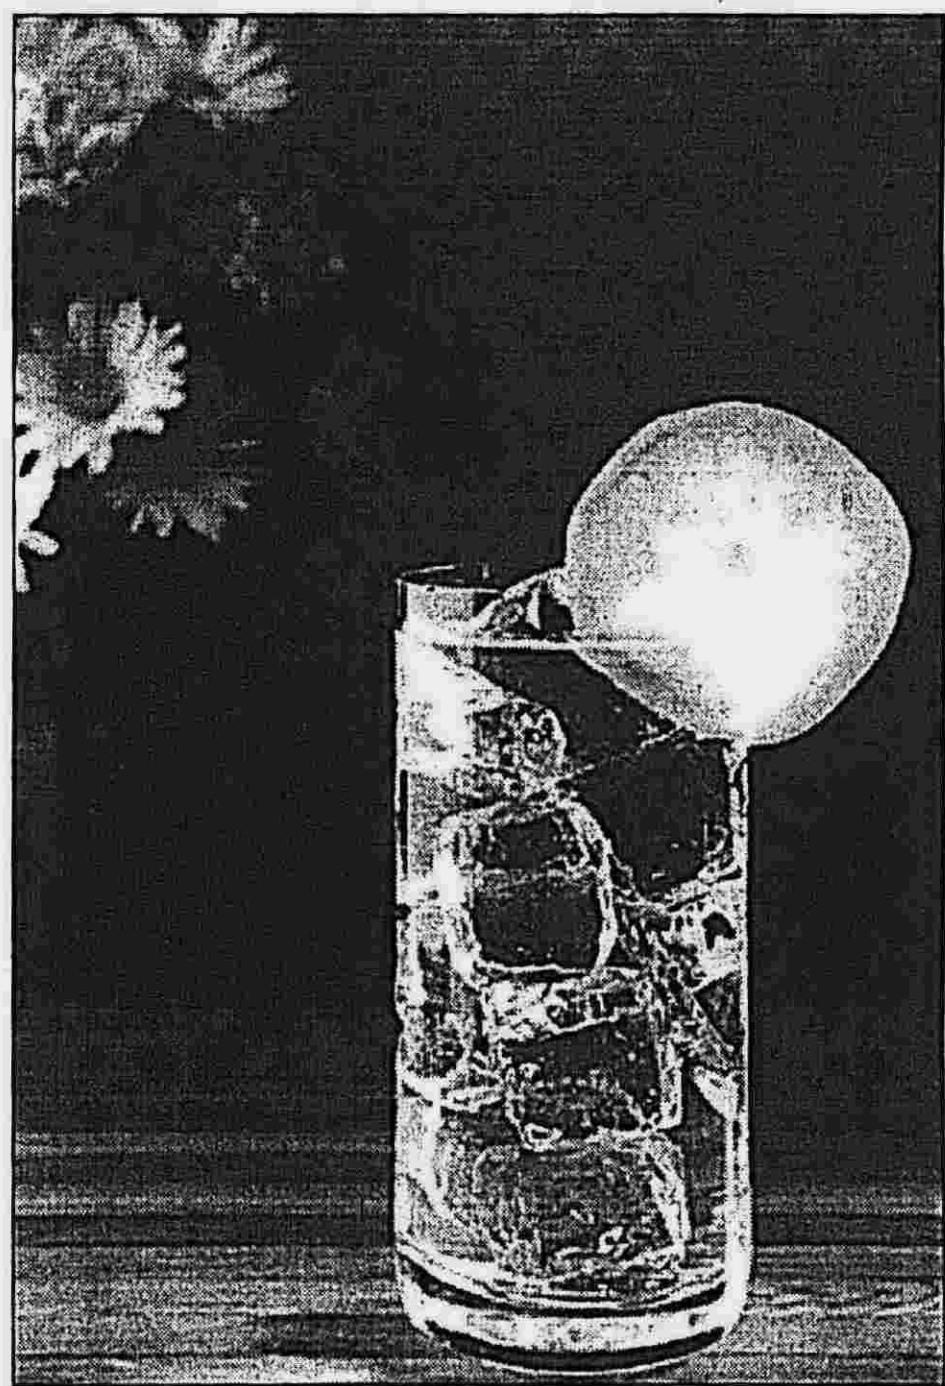

Sparkling: contains the same amount of carbon dioxide as it had at emergence from source.

Spring: underground formation from which water naturally flows.

Sterile: meets U.S. Pharmacopeia requirements for sterile water.

Well: taken from a constructed ground source.

The FDA does not define terms such as "natural," "organic," or "pure," for bottled water, so you should look on the label for one of the approved Standards of Identity. That way, you can know for sure where the water comes from. It is always best to buy bottled water that has been tested by a qualified, independent body, so you know that the bottler is meeting the regulations of the FDA. Any bottler

Teaching kids to be good sports

Dear Dr. Singer,
My kids love to watch sports with my husband. I'm greatly concerned about the lack of good sportsmanship I see exhibited in many of these games. I don't want my kids to get the idea that it's o.k. to act like some of these sports people act.

These people are made out to be heroes in our society and I'm very disturbed by what my kids may be picking up from this. Can you share any hints you might have to help them avoid this. I don't think it's right to make them stop watching sports, especially, since it is something that they can enjoy with my husband.

F.R.

Dear F.R.

I don't feel that it's necessary for them to stop watching completely either. It's what you help them understand that will make the difference. I feel that there are many sports figures who exhibit behavior which is not necessarily role model behavior, but I also know that there are many sports figures who are great role models.

I think that much of the problems stem from the repetitive coverage the bad behavior receives. If a sports figure does something shocking, the news replays it for days. I'm certainly not saying that we cannot know about it, but I believe that many of the more negative behaviors exhibited in sports are glorified and publicized ad infinitum. I wish someday, the positive sports behaviors would have the same coverage.

Sherri Singer,
Psy.D.

As far as what to tell your kids, I would make sure that whoever watches the game (you mentioned their dad) with them doesn't react to sports players' bad decisions and behavior with laughter or any other positive response.

I would also have Dad talk with the kids afterwards about good decisions and bad decisions. If they watch a sports player do something against someone else, Dad can tell them that this would never be acceptable behavior no matter who did it.

Your kids need to understand that sports players are not heroes or gods, but rather, real people working/doing their job. In fact, I have heard many sports players respond in exactly that way: "It's not my job to be a role model."

I do believe, that when you are in the public eye and kids can watch you, there is a certain responsibility that goes along with that. Certainly, no one is ever going to impose something on anyone like that and I'm not sure that they should, however, you hope that most sports figures understand that kids do watch them regularly.

This is really no different than your kids watching any other form of entertainment. It is really important for parents to inform their kids about their morals, values and expectations and then talk about it a lot with their kids. If these things are taught regularly, the apple usually doesn't fall far from the tree no matter how many sports incidents he or she sees!

Halloween's over, but tooth decay continues

Now that Halloween is over and the candy is still around, parents can allow their children to enjoy the "treats" of Halloween without the "tricks" of unnecessary dental care down the road by following a few simple rules, according to the Chicago Dental Society.

Dentists are not opposed to eating candy and chocolate, if it is done in moderation and in a way that helps minimize the damage done by plaque attacks," says Marvin Berman, DDS, a pediatric dentist who practices in Chicago and who serves as a CDS spokesperson. He cites the following guidelines created by the Chicago Dental Society.

- Carefully inspect all items collected, if you haven't already. "Parents should determine how much candy children have collected, as well as what kind of candy," says Dr. Berman.

- Place each child's "loot"

where it can be monitored to determine how much candy is being eaten at any given time. "Children should not be allowed to keep candy in their rooms where they can snack away at will," says Dr. Berman. "Parents should take an active part in monitoring the amount of candy their kids eat." Also, he says, children should not be allowed to eat candy before going to bed.

- Discourage between-meal snacks, but when they occur, choose tooth-friendly snacks such as fruit, nuts or popcorn. "For example," says Dr. Berman, "popcorn is a good alternative to sweet or sticky snacks because it is high in fiber, contains protein and iron, has no sugar and is low in calories. But popcorn balls are bad because of the sugars used to bind them together."

- Restrict candy to be eaten after meals, followed immediately by flossing and brushing. "When you eat a meal, your teeth get hit by a plaque attack for about 20 to 30 minutes," explains Dr. Berman.

- Some parents may want to give their youngsters healthy snacks. "I advise parents to give sugar-free gum or other sugar-free treats, or even fruits such as apples or bananas," says Dr. Berman.

Dr. Berman has even talked several parents into giving toothbrushes and small tubes of toothpaste. But, he concludes, you can't raise a child and take away everything that is fun. "The keys are moderation and parental involvement," he concludes.

WATER: How safe is bottled water?

that is a member of the International Bottled Water Association, IBWA, must meet these standards, as well as more stringent IBWA requirements.

Actually, IBWA member companies produce and distribute 85 percent of the bottled water sold in the U.S. IBWA has requested that NSF International, a not-for-profit, independent public health organization, perform the annual inspection required of all IBWA members. Being an independent organization, NSF can report, without bias, as to the quality and conformity of a bottle's plant and facilities. Additionally, NSF International maintains its own bottled water certification program that tests and certifies bottled waters from all over the world.

Some groups have claimed that plastic bottles themselves can be dangerous and should not be used to hold water. But the FDA, which authorizes the plastic as a food contact material, must approve all plastic in which bottled water is sold. This means that testing has been performed to ensure that the plastic container does not contaminate its contents with dangerous chemicals.

Consumers should note, though, that storing bottled water next to certain hydrocarbons or aromatics, such as dish detergents, gasoline, or cleaning fluids, could result in chemicals migrating through the bottle to contaminate the water.

For greater confidence in the safety of the bottled water you buy, contact the IBWA, NSF, or any bottler for a copy of the water analysis report that lists the contaminants detected in the water. You will discover that most bottled waters only contain trace amounts of contaminants, if any at all.

To contact IBWA, call 1-800-WATER11, or visit their Web site at www.bottledwater.org. You can also contact NSF International for information on bottled water or drinking water filters. Call 1-800-673-8010, or visit www.nsf.org.

NSF's certification process is respected worldwide and its expertise was recognized when it received the designation of Collaborating Center for Drinking Water Safety and Treatment from the World Health Organization (WHO).—By Michael Miller

Give indoor plants some much needed attention

November is now in full swing, meaning there is not much more time this year to do outside gardening chores. I hope you have put your garden to "bed," so to speak. In a few weeks, I'm sure we will have had a few good frosts (unfortunately) so you can mulch, and hill up your roses and perennials. Garden tools should be stored away, also the garden hose.

I have brought in all of the garden plants in containers that I intend to overwinter, and so far they look quite good. It is important to mist your indoor plants frequently, because the air inside is much drier than outside conditions. Plants respond to misting, it makes the transition inside a little easier on them. If you have waited until recently to bring in your plants, it is a good idea to change the soil in the containers. This is important for two reasons. One: if there are any insects harboring and diseases, and after all summer outside the soil probably is stripped of all nutrients.

When bringing plants inside, it is a good idea to keep them in a cool room. And, remember when you start heating not to have plants close to vents. Plants do not tolerate heating well. Continue fertilizing your plants over the winter, and try to provide a good source of light. There are many gloomy days ahead, do provide artificial light for your plants when needed. Use fluorescent lighting for my plants as a supplement when the sun does not shine.

Check your plants frequently for signs of insect damage and the like. It is a very good idea to spray them with an insecticide upon bringing them indoors, there usually are bugs in there somewhere. Make sure your flowerpots are cleaned. Keeping them clean prevents plant disease. Upon putting your containers away for the winter, scrub the pots that held your annual flowers, then carefully store them away for another season.

To remove salt and clinging earth from clay pots, rub them with steel wool and diluted vinegar, then soak them in a bleach solution. Clean plastic pots with a cloth dipped in warm, soapy water. Scrub the pots until they are free of soil and grime, then soak them in a bleach solution.

Well, enjoy the peace of fall. Until next time.

Pellet basket is alternative to gas logs

Despite the continuous "buzz" about gas logs—1997 statistics from the hearth industry show that consumers still want to keep traditional "home fires burning."

The interest in gas logs has largely been one of ease and convenience. However, many people feel that the "automation" provided by gas does not replace the ambiance created by a wood fire. Though consumers prefer real wood fires, the majority still dislike the hassle and work associated with chopping, hauling, stacking and tending a wood fire.

Enter Prometheus™

A new concept, a pellet fuel basket, Prometheus is an inexpensive way to convert a traditional fireplace or wood stove into an easy-to-light and easy-to-tend wood fire.

Here's how Prometheus works: simply place the basket inside a wood stove or fireplace, fill with pellets and light. The wire mesh of the basket and several "chambers" within the basket allow the air to flow in and out, as well as through, the basket creating a warm, clean-burning fire.

In as little as three minutes of start-up you can experience a roaring wood fire. More pellets can be added to the basket chambers at any time for continuous burning and pellets can even be added to the fire when there is as little as one-inch of fuel left in the basket. A full pellet basket holds from 10 pounds to 25 pounds of pellets and will burn for hours without refueling, depending on the size of the basket.

This new invention burns wood pellets made from natural sawdust which otherwise might be dumped into landfills. Because wood pellets are 10 times drier than cord wood, they produce much more heat and, after initial start-up, are virtually smoke-free. Because pellets burn hot, they burn clean. This results in better air quality and in much less creosote, a major cause of chimney fires.

With pellets there is less ash to clean out of a wood stove or fireplace, than burning cordwood. For example, 40 pounds of fuel in a Prometheus basket generally produces one-to-three ounces of fine powdery ash.

An added plus for the pellet fuel basket is that storing and using wood pellets eliminates insect-ridden wood piles, as well as the mess around the hearth.

Wood pellets are now produced by 80 mills throughout the United States and Canada and are sold at fireplace shops, as well as home improvement centers, hardware stores, feed stores, discount and mass merchandising establishments.

Prometheus is available in sizes ranging from 11 inches to 22 inches. Made from high-grade stainless steel, the basket weighs six pounds to 12 pounds. The smallest pellet fuel basket will accommodate even the smallest opening in a zero-clearance (prefabricated) metal fireplace.

For more information on Prometheus and Energex pellet fuel, Inc., call 1-888-229-7766. Or, visit the website at <http://www.Energex.com>.

Aunts from both sides of family believe they can offer best life

by LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

At 2 years old, Ryan LaMere experienced what no one would want to experience in a lifetime. His father, Daniel LaMere, killed his mother, Nancy, half-sister Lauren Mank and half-brother Alex Lowe before committing suicide on Memorial Day.

The toddler was in the house when it happened and was found the next day by a neighbor.

Now, he is the focus of an intense custody battle. Nancy LaMere's sister, Jan, and Daniel LaMere's sister, Donna Blauvelt, want permanent custody of Ryan, who is currently living with Jan (who prefers to not have her last name printed) in Cook County.

"At first they tried to resolve the matter," said Jan's attorney Margaret Benson of the Chicago Volunteer Legal Services Foundation. "But joint custody wasn't possible because the Blauvelts live in New Jersey. Both sides feel they are the best for Ryan."

If the Blauvelts receive custody of Ryan, Jan is concerned about the effect it would have on the child.

"Ryan already lost his family, so uprooting him again would be devastating," said Benson. "He never met the Blauvelts, while Jan was a familiar face. He knew who she was and was comfortable with her."

Benson said that Ryan is doing well under Jan's care.

"She's taking him to family counseling once a week," said Benson. "He was originally waking up in his sleep from nightmares but now he's adjusting and dealing with things real well."

Patrick O'Day, the Blauvelt's attorney, said his clients feel they can provide a better home for Ryan than Jan.

"They have a single family detached home in a nice suburb of New York City," said O'Day. "They have experience in raising a family. Their children are honor roll students at local Catholic schools."

O'Day said in contrast, Jan has no experience as a parent. She was only married for a short time and has had many jobs and boyfriends. The Blauvelts dispute the fact that she had a meaningful relationship with Ryan prior to the death of his parents.

"We don't feel she (Jan) has

LaMere: Two aunts want custody of 2-year-old

the necessary wherewithal to provide the boy with a healthy home," said O'Day. "If you look at the two homes, there is no comparison."

In addition to the custody battle, Jan and the Blauvelts are disputing visitation rights. The Blauvelts would like Ryan to visit them for two weeks but Jan said the longest he could visit is a long weekend. On Nov. 13, a trial judge will most likely be determined and that judge will set a hearing date.

Skidmore follows family tradition as next county treasurer

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

The Republican candidate Robert G. Skidmore won the race for Lake County Treasurer with 79,360 votes, compared to Democrat Lynda Paul's 63,201 votes. He follows in the footsteps of his father, Robert Skidmore, Sr., who served as Lake County Treasurer in the 1970s and uncle, Hugo Schneider, who also served as the county's treasurer in the 1950s and '60s.

"My opponent ran a very good race with a lot of class," said Skidmore, who has served as deputy treasurer for 14 years. "The items she brought up were very good and she made me a better candidate for those reasons."

Election night was particularly emotional for him. "I was wearing my dad's campaign button, and while he is no longer with us he was here in spirit," he said. "It was emotional for me knowing I was the third person in my family to hold this office."

When Skidmore takes office on Dec. 1, he plans to continue running the office in the manner it has been run in the past.

"Nothing will change," he said. "I promised to continue to serve people with the same friendly service and will continue to do that."

He said his office is already setting up a system through which taxpayers can use credit cards to pay their taxes. He added that there will be a surcharge for those who choose to pay their taxes this way.

He also said that a new computer system will be in place in approximately two months. Many things that were done by hand in the past, such as special assessments, will be computerized in order to speed up the process.

Paul was thankful to all the volunteers who helped run her campaign.

"We had a game plan that started out in January and we played it to a tee," she said. "But we could not overcome the powerful Republican presence in Lake County and overtones of the presidential scandal that came down to the local level."

She was pleased to hear that three precincts in North Chicago and Waukegan had a 100 percent voter turnout. Paul is a resident of Waukegan.

Her future plans include continuing to support the Democratic party.

"I would like to seek a position as a vice chairperson in charge of special events where I can strengthen the party from within," she said.

She also will continue her work as a financial planner for retirees.

Incumbent Helander downs challenge from Hess

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Managing Editor

Willard Helander puts some demons to bed Tuesday with the defeat of former Lake County Clerk Linda Hess in a bid for her second term in office.

Riding the coat tails of straight Republican party balloting in 1994, Helander was often said to have won because voters chose the elephant in the race.

With the end of the straight pull, Helander showed she has made a connection with the voters in her first term.

"We are really excited," Helander said. "On the personal side we did not pick up the negative slant in the campaign. Our only response to negative attacks was to put the facts straight."

Helander defeated Hess, 80,277 to 67,905, capturing 54 percent compared to Hess' 46 percent of the vote.

She said she looks forward to her second term, which should not be overshadowed by political rhetoric.

"I believe people recognize petty, personal politics and attacks don't go anywhere," she said.

Helander will emphasize the need to image and preserve vital records in her second term as well as seek an improved voter system to meet the needs by the year 2001.

"The current system is outdated. It would be foolish to invest in a system that is obsolete and one in which we are searching the country for spare parts," Helander noted. On election night just two of the four readers was working.

Helander added the election was a verification from voters that she had done a good job.

"It was a difficult decision as a family to decide to run for reelection, because it really impacts your quality of life. I'm glad the voters confirmed I had made the right decision. It feels good."

Throughout the campaign, Helander has had a team of three individuals working for her reelection.

"Field Marshal" Venita McConnel, mother Eleanor Rooks and Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson, her campaign manager.

"I can't think of anything she didn't do in this campaign," said Richardson of Helander. "She did not use a negative campaign and that paid off for her."

Challenger Linda Hess made a difficult decision a year ago to challenge Helander for the post she had held for 12 years. She chose not to seek reelection in 1994, opening the door for Helander.

"I had an excellent organization. I had a lot of great workers and volunteers. We raised a lot of money and I feel good about that," Hess said. "We started in January, if I could have started six months earlier, the results may have been different."

Hess said she felt she ran a very construction campaign which stayed focused on the issues and not

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Park Dist. referendum fails

Wauconda—The song remained the same for Wauconda Park District, which saw its 10 cent tax rate increase referendum fail for the second consecutive election.

In unofficial election results from the Nov. 3 General Election, the park district's quest to raise money for capital improvement projects failed by a 65.2 percent to 34.8 percent margin. In 10 precincts, 1,399 no votes were cast against 742 yes votes.

"We are disappointed in the results of the election," said Nancy Burton, director of the Park District, speaking on election night. "We feel the rate we were asking for was the lowest rate possible to accomplish what we wanted to accomplish," Burton said.

Beaubien wins reelection

St. Rep. 52nd Dist.—State Rep. Mark H. Beaubien, Jr. (R-Barrington) was reelected to a second full two-year term in unofficial vote totals from the Nov. 3 general election, easily defeating challenger Bill Husko (D-Mundelein).

In unofficial results, Beaubien, 55, received 66.58 percent of the vote, with 20,340 votes, compared with Husko, 69, who received 33.42 percent of the vote, with 10,208 votes.

"I was really quite confident," Beaubien said. "I worked very hard, I took the election seriously. I feel I have demonstrated I care for people in my district."

Husko was at a loss to know why he did not fare better. "I don't know because I have done everything I thought was right," he said.

Student appointed as trustee

Fox Lake—Grant Township High School Senior Alan Prouty has become the youngest trustee in the Village of Fox Lake, and is among the youngest individuals to serve in an elected office across the country.

Prouty, 18, was appointed by Mayor Jim Pappas to fill the unexpired term of former Trustee Alberta Meyer at the Nov. 2 Fox Lake Board meeting. His term will expire in six months during the first week in May of 1999.

"I wanted to learn more and play a role within the village board," Prouty said of his reason for applying for the position. "I wanted to take part in the community and show people an 18 year old can do the job just like everyone else."

That is what Pappas said people had told him at a rate of two to one. "An 18 year old who can vote for us should be allowed to sit up here with us," Pappas said.

Johnsburg schools win big

Johnsburg—Happy days and nights are ringing all throughout Johnsburg Community Unit School District 12, as voters resoundingly approved a referendum to provide $11.85 million to construct 34 classrooms while maintaining the district's tax rate.

In unofficial returns, 60.51 percent of the vote was in favor of the referendum, with 2,245 votes, while 39.49 percent was against, with 1,465 votes.

Dr. Robert Gough, District 12 superintendent, said the school board had worked hard the past four years to scale down its failed 1994 referendum in almost half the amount, while also receiving state support and having success in meeting the goals of the community and communicating with them.

"Now that it has been approved, it has brought out an overall global satisfaction," Gough said. With the voters approval in hand, district officials can now proceed with selling $11.85 million in bonds and prepare building plans for additions at each district building in the next two years. "Fall 2000 everybody should be able to move in," Gough said.

Street brawl leads to three arrests

Libertyville—A brawl broke out Sunday night, Nov. 1, in the parking lot of Wholesale Carpet Designs, 1470 S. Milwaukee, Libertyville.

Alvin Cassel, 26, of Waukegan; Gregory Draper, 37, of North Chicago and Leysa Draper, 23, of North Chicago were all arrested for their roles in the fight.

Cassel and Leysa Draper are both employees of Manor-Care Health Services in Libertyville. The two had earlier had a heated dispute over the care of one of the patients. When the two say each other in public later the fight broke out. Fists, a hammer, repellant spray and a bottle were all used as weapons in the altercation.

All three were charged with battery for their part in the fight. Gregory Draper was charged with assault and both Cassel and Leysa Draper were charged with criminal damage to property.

Dist. 114 referendum voted down

Fox Lake—It's back to the drawing board for Fox Lake Elementary School District 114 as voters in Fox Lake decided not to approve a $12.3 million referendum that would have closed both Lotus and Forest elementary schools and brought a new wing to Stanton School.

By a total of 1,020 yes votes to 1,114 no votes, voters in the Fox Lake Elementary School District 114 voted to not approve the referendum during the November elections held Tuesday.

Some of the main concerns that went with the new school was the $12.3 million price tag that went with the addition, the bond payment structure would not keep tax rates where the board was saying it would and many people felt that condensing all the students at one site was not beneficial to either younger or older students.

"I've seen the board very committed to this plan," said Michael Lescher, vice president of Dist. 114. "I do not see the board abandoning it or making any major changes to the original plan, but we will revisit it and make a few minor adjustments."

Proposed indoor skate park denied

Libertyville—A proposed indoor skate park for aggressive skating was denied Oct. 27 by the Libertyville village board dashing the hopes of many youths in attendance.

Aggressive skating is skating on ramps, inclines and other obstacles.

Had the special use permit passed the proposed facility would have been located in what was formerly a warehouse at 1800 Temple Drive.

The reason the proposal came before the board was because the site does not have enough parking spaces for the proposed use and any added parking spaces would have been in violation of other ordinances.

The proposal needed four out of the five trustees to vote in favor. With Trustee Gary Franzen and Trustee Jeffrey Harger voting against it the proposal failed three votes to two.

Jeff Cleveland, the man proposing the skate park, is a Mundelein resident and said he will continue to look in the area for another potential site.

GCHS referendum approved

Grayslake—It's official. Grayslake High School's $20 million referendum question squeaked by with a narrow margin of 75 votes. Of the voters who cast their ballot, 3,943 said yes and 3,868 said no. The Grayslake High School referendum committee celebrated their win after being on tenterhooks all evening on Nov. 3.

"I tell you, I think I lost a few hairs tonight!" said Grayslake

High School Superintendent Ray Novak, who watched the election numbers change slowly until 1 a.m. "I think getting out the word of the $4.1 million rebate from the state was an important step."

District 127 will remodel parts of the high school, add on, and buy a new parcel of land with the money from the referendum. Since the referendum passed, the district will receive the capital development loan of 4.1 million promised by the state, reducing the overall debt to tax payers from $20 million to $15.9 million.

State Rep. Moore elected

Libertyville—In a landslide Republican Andrea Moore has once again won the District 61 State Representative race.

Moore received 20,134 votes to beat out her opponent Geraldine Callan who received 8,503 votes. "I was elated," Moore said of the victory.

This will be Moore's fourth term and she said she was confident going into the election. "I have been in office for some time," she said. "I was hopeful that would serve me well."

"I have a good established record," Moore said. Another reason she has received so much support is because she makes herself so accessible.

In her upcoming term Moore said she will continue to fight against leaf burning. Moore said many proponents of leaf burning see it as a nostalgic custom or as an efficient means of disposal. She said she sees leaf burning as a definite health risk.

McCarley wins Dist. 2 seat

Wadsworth—Republican Loretta McCarley was elected to the Lake County board District 2 seat left vacant by Robert Neal. McCarley received 3,416 votes to democrat Jeanne Hewitt's 2,482 for the spot.

"This is really going to be a new experience," McCarley said.

She said she was confident going into the election because she had run a good primary and felt the constituents were in her favor.

The fact she was able to get out information about who she is and what she stands for is one of the reasons she thinks she attracted voters, McCarley said.

"We sent out a lot of personal letters and talked with a lot of people on a one-on-one basis," she said.

That presence got across the message that she will be there to listen to the constituents of the district, she said. Even though she may not always agree with someone's point of view she said she will certainly listen to all points of view.

Voters accept tax increase

Grayslake—Fire Chief Don Mobley breathed a sigh of relief as the poll results finally came in. Voters accepted a tax increase from 1.7 percent to 45.7 percent for the 1998 levy year, providing sorely needed funds to the Grayslake Greater Fire Protection District.

"I am so pleased. At least we can talk seriously now since we have the money" said Mobley, speaking of the district's plan to purchase land for a new fire station. "We have been living a minimalist life here at the fire station."

A difference of 188 votes made the race close, with 3,750 yes votes to 3,562 no's. Historically, the fire district has not had a tax increase since they first started operations.

Antioch votes to improve library

Antioch—Antioch voters said "yes" on Tuesday for additional library materials.

They said "yes" for new computers and other patron services. They said "yes" for saving money for future growth and building enhancements.

On Tuesday, Nov. 3, there were 2,810 voters, 52.11 percent, who said the Antioch Public Library District tax rate should be increased 8.5 cents to 25.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. There were 2,582 people, 47.89 percent, who said no.

"I'm very, very pleased," said Library District President Ann Kakacek. "How could anyone not be pleased?"

"We have to respect the people who say no because they took the time to vote," said Kakacek. "And, we delight in the people who voted yes."

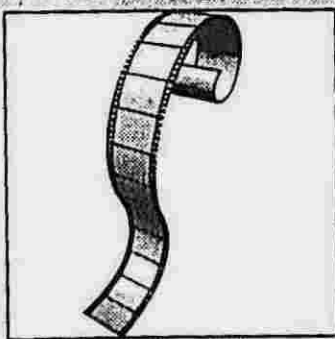

Kakacek said that the effort to pass the referendum had some additional benefits. The Antioch Library Friends group was a delight to work with. The library board came together as a stronger group. She said that it was a wonderful experience to work with the library staff.

See multi-university opening new horizons

Now that the fall election is history, public debate likely will swing to the location of the Lake County multi-university, a facility the State Board of Higher Education envisions as providing for Lake County's higher education needs without establishing a new four-year school.

The educational center, planned to be operational by 2000, will be a place where a number of institutions can hold classes leading to degrees. The multi-university (we hope someone can come up with a less cumbersome name) will open up options for local students to complete degree programs without leaving home.

Forces in Waukegan and Mundelein already are at work to gain the university building. Grayslake also has been mentioned because of the main campus of the College of Lake County. In the early going, at least, the News-Sun building in downtown Waukegan has been mentioned as a good location. Mundelein is talking up the vacant former International Minerals Corp. headquarters situated on a campus-like setting off Rte. 45.

From an aesthetic viewpoint, the Mundelein location likely will get strong backing. Waukegan, without a doubt, can argue forcibly that student needs and supporting infrastructure can carry the day. State Sen. Jerry Link (D-Vernon Hills) favors Waukegan and is the first elected official to speak out for a site.

Wherever the site, the new school will add greatly to the lustre Lake County already has for higher education. A dozen institutions already offer courses at various locations around the county. That number could easily double at the university center. Coupled with the four-year degree schools presently available, few localities in the nation will be able to offer such a breadth and variety of higher education opportunities.

Blowing the whistle on train whistles

Dogs bark. Cats prowl. Trains blow whistles. Those are among the irrefutable facts of life. Unless you live in the United States, where citizens can always turn to a malleable government more than willing to negate, or at least turn back, some of those irrefutable realities.

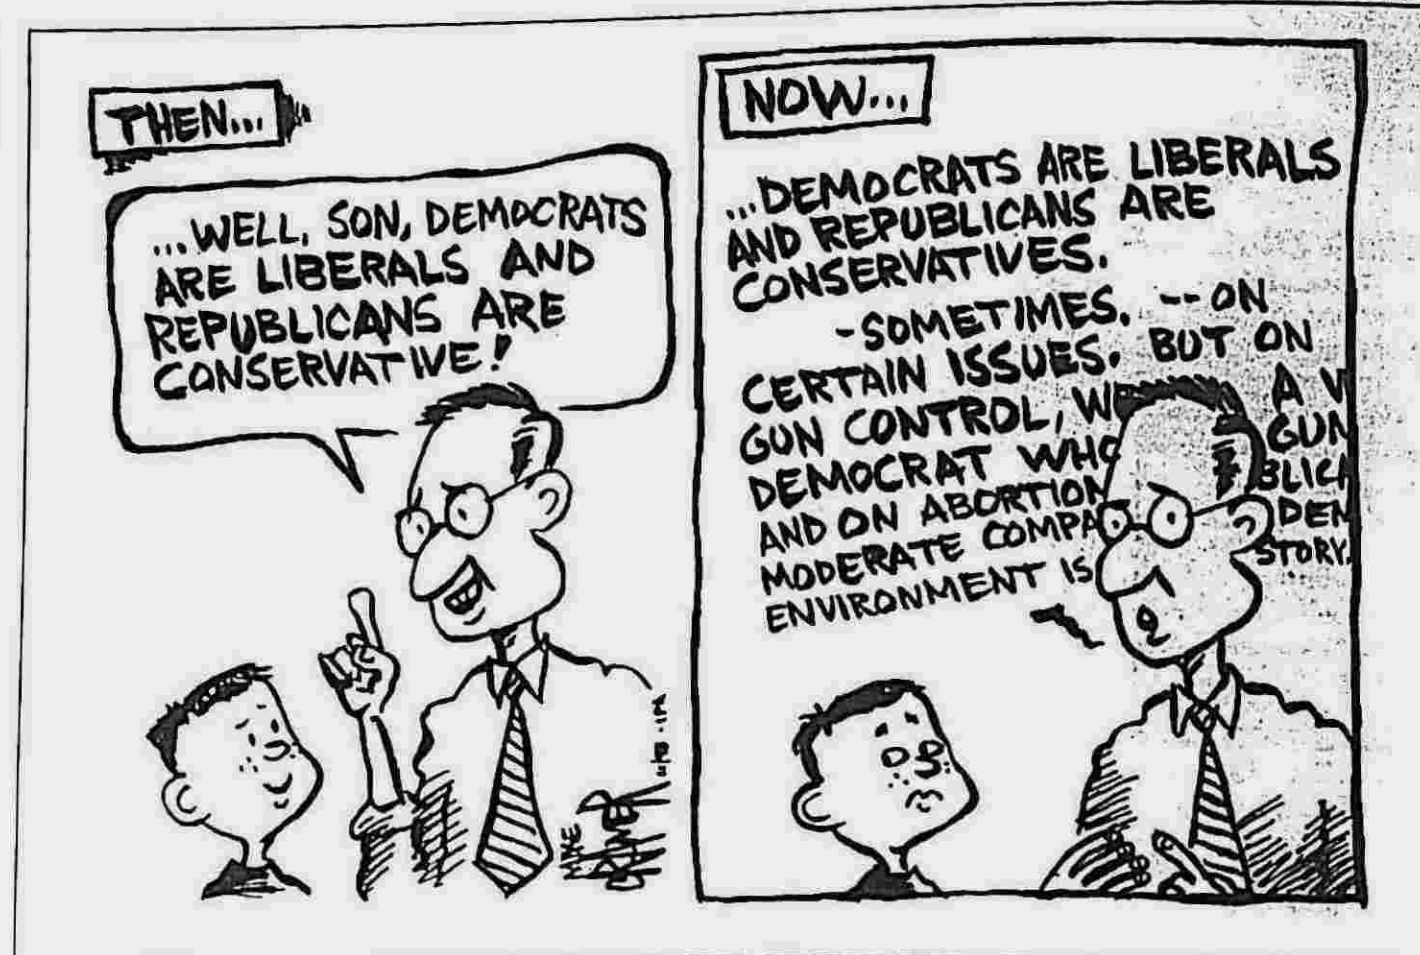

In Lake County, criss-crossed as it is north, east, south and west by railroad tracks, whistle blowing trains are a constant irritant to a segment of the populace. It's difficult to find any place in this county that is not within earshot of a train whistle. So there always seems to be someone blowing the whistle on train whistles.

Enter front and center, Glenadine Ruppert of Antioch, who is leading a one woman charge against train whistles. Antioch has an unusually large number of crossings. Hence, a lot of whistle blowing. More than ever now with the success of commuter service on the Wisconsin Central.

Ruppert is an advocate of crossing gates. Ruppert is convinced train whistles can be silenced without a sacrifice of life and limb. Antioch Village Attorney Kenneth Clark says the village has no legal right to ban train whistles. Clark also has at hand a 1991 Florida study showing that the train-vehicle accident rate jumped 300 percent when train engineers stopped blowing their whistles.

As we mentioned, our government likes to get involved in issues like train whistles. A federal agency is getting ready to release an impact statement and will be conducting hearings. Dragged into the controversy, Congressman Phil Crane sagely pointed out the risky business of predicting what may come out of the federal inquiry.

We must confess that we don't share Ms. Ruppert's antipathy toward train whistles. We sort of like them. The whistles help us wake up. They warn us to get out of the way of trains. A blowing train whistle is a signal that all is well in America. Not that Ms. Ruppert doesn't have a right to blow the whistle on train whistles. She most certainly does. As Congressman Crane pointed out, this whole thing about train whistles is risky business.

VIEWPOINT

County golf big, to get bigger in '99

Some years ago, a powerful politician remarked, "Lake County has no business being in the golf course business."

That was then and this is now. Not only is Lake County government in the golf course business, there is a fast track ahead that would vault Lake County into the rarified air of having one of the nation's top public golf courses. Maybe even No. 1.

All the ingredients for premier status are available at ThunderHawk Golf Club, the Lake County Forest Preserves' new 18-hole championship course located on Lewis Ave. between 29th and 33rd streets in Beach Park and Zion.

ThunderHawk, ready to open for play in the spring of 1999, will be the fourth Forest Preserve course, joining Brae Loch at Gages Lake, Countryside at Mundelein and Ft. Sheridan. The 243 acre layout contains hardwood woodlands, pristine wetlands and carefully restored native prairie. Fairways cover more than 50 acres. There are more than 85 sand traps.

Designers were so sensitive to the environment that players will get a free drop at certain spots when errant shots sail into protected areas. There is water, too, so be well-stocked with balls. This duffer already has decided that it'll take more than a few rounds next spring to get prepared for Thunderhawk.

Dan Prezell, director of Forest Preserve revenue facilities and de facto golf manager, is as excited about Thunderhawk as a newly permitted teenage driver with a high performance sports car. "This is it. We're headed for the big time. There'll be major pro tournaments here in a few years," Prezell enthuses.

The crowning glory at Thunderhawk will be a 10,000 square foot club house built of rough sawed cedar and field stone, and topped an authentic shake roof. Flanking the ample pro shop will be men's and women's lockerrooms. A bar overlooking the 18th hole will connect players' facilities to a dining room with banquet seating for 300 persons.

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

In conducting this observer on a tour, Prezell did not make a single reference to "playing" Thunderhawk. Golfers will "experience" Thunderhawk. Lake County's new golfing jewel will be that kind of course.

I can't image what that venerable pol is thinking now about county government being in the golf course business. That's not important. What is important that current Forest Preserve leadership is of a mind to extend golfing at the highest levels to the widest number of persons as possible without any cost to taxpayers.

Like the other Forest Preserve golfing properties, magnificent Thunderhawk will be entirely self supported.

Weight watchers

Retiring State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa), shed 25 pounds this summer. Bob vowed to rid himself of five more pounds to be at his weight when first elected to the Illinois General Assembly 16 years ago. Thin-as-a-rail Al Salvi reported that his campaign for secretary of state cost him only five pounds; his bid for the U.S. Senate two years ago took 20 pounds off his lean frame.

Deerfield delight

Yeeessss! Regular commuters are taking fiendish delight in rolling through the one-time Deerfield Toll Plaza at near regular drive-time speeds. In typical Illinois State Toll Highway Authority arrogance, a spokesperson described a no toll edict as a "peace offering." Only a few long-time commuting regulars remember the original Tollway Authority pledge of dispensing with tolls once the Tri-State bonds were paid. Oh, yeah.

Stream of coats

Karen Kuester, in charge of the Lakeland Newspapers reception desk, and classified advertising account executive Joyce Hill are doing an inhouse version of Coats for Chicago, a cooperative effort of Chicagoland Chrysler-Plymouth Dealers and the Salvation Army to collect winter garments for the needy throughout the metro area. Karen and Joyce encourage other Lake County businesses do join the effort that is being backed by NBC. The coat chain will extend all the way to Soldier Field where final contributions will be received Sunday, Dec. 27, at the Bears/Green Bay game.

Allendale accolade

Jay Proops of Wilmette, board chairman of Allendale School, Lake Villa, was honored at the Allendale Assn. annual meeting for nearly two decades of service. He commented that helping the school, nationally known for its residential treatment for at risk boys and girls, never seems like a chore. "I've always considered it a privilege," he noted.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Geo wows audience at tribute for Churchill

State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) noted for her energy and wit, was in rare form at a tribute for retiring State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) almost turning the event into a mini-roast.

When he was making his first race for the Legislature, Geo recounted, "Bobby showed me his campaign brochure. It was terrible. I rewrote it on the spot. Then, I even had to pick up the tab for lunch."

A smiling and relaxed Churchill responded with a story about how a trip to Springfield with the Senator Geo-Karis turned into a day—and night adventure.

"First, there were about three pancake breakfasts to attend. Then we hit a couple of spaghetti lunches, followed by several anniversary open houses, Churchill related. "It was about midnight when he finally got to Springfield and Adeline wanted to go out for dinner. Churchill had a throng at Maravella's howling with the revelation that Geo-Karis dozed off—twice—listening to a tape recording of Kate Smith singing "God Bless America" on the long drive to the state capitol.

Churchill kept his response to the accolades brief, telling friends at the dinner sponsored by the Antioch Township Republican Club, "I should be thanking you for the opportunity of serving you for 16 years."

Bye, bye Bob

There was no skulduggery involved in the ouster of Building Officer Bob "I make the rules" Streicher, second banana in the Lake County Building, Planning and Zoning Dept. The undoing was Streicher's $104,000 annual salary. "That's more than the elected officials make. Enough is enough," groused one County Board member. The axe fell on Streicher at a budget meeting.

No double dipping

Antioch Township Supervisor Tim Osmond had his mind made up long before election day that if elected state representative he would resign the township post he has held for 18 months. Osmond could legally hold both jobs.

So long

Independent Republicans are vowing to retire County Board Chairman Bob Grever (R-Kildeer) as a one term. As the counting took place for Nov. 3 balloting, they were strategizing about alliances with newly elected Democrats. Look for fireworks about the chairman's job.

Thank goodness, cam-pain is over

The Lyndon B. Johnson award for the cheapest shot taken during our recent election campaign goes to ... the envelope please ... Illinois Congressman Glenn Poshard.

If you've never heard of the LBJ award maybe it's because I just now made it up. I'm sorry, but when I think of that former president dirty politics immediately comes to mind.

Poshard, running for governor and trailing in the polls to his opponent, Secretary of State George Ryan, sought political gain from the deaths of six children.

He blamed Ryan for a freak minivan-truck accident that took the children's lives, saying Ryan's department allowed an unqualified Illinois truck driver to obtain a commercial driver's license, although Poshard's campaign offered no proof of that being the case.

It was a far-fetched accusation, a deceptive tactic unworthy of someone who wants to be our governor. Where, when you need them, are politicians with the integrity of retiring governor Jim Edgar and retired Sen. Alan Dixon? Why can't we have more candidates with the courage and dignity to remain above the fray, beyond the mudslinging?

It was Henry Kissinger who observed, "Ninety percent of the politicians give the other 10 percent a bad reputation."

Ryan didn't conduct a squeaky-clean campaign either. He spent several million dollars on negative ads against Poshard, including the inference the congressman would be willing to arm gangbangers who could invade our neighborhoods.

Too often, candidates are willing to play loose with the truth. Their opponents' voting records and stands on issues are twisted and taken out of context. And too often we find ourselves faced with voting for the lesser of two evils.

It has been said that politics consists of choosing between the disastrous and the unpalatable.

A desperate Carol Mosley-

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Braun, asking voters for another six years in the U.S. Senate, also stooped to hitting below the belt. Trailing in the polls to her opponent, State Sen. Peter Fitzgerald, she resorted to attack ads that gave the false impression Fitzgerald favored sending to prison women who have abortions in cases of rape and incest. Her deceptive ads came complete with illustrations of coat hangers.

Mosely-Braun's backers, including Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, accused Fitzgerald of negative campaigning. But how could a person discuss Mosely-Braun's six years as a senator, which according to various Illinois newspapers has been "embarrassing, sneaky, and hard to trust," without being negative?

It was Mark Twain who said, "Suppose you were an idiot and suppose you were a member of Congress. But I repeat myself."

Getting back to the tactics of Lyndon Johnson, Barry Goldwater wrote this in his autobiography: "Johnson was the epitome of the unprincipled politician, a dirty fighter and treacherous. He'd slap you on the back today and stab you in the back tomorrow."

Indeed, during the 1964 presidential campaign, in vicious television commercials Johnson branded Goldwater as a trigger-happy warmonger and a nuclear madman.

"The voters thought I was going to blow up the world," Goldwater reflected. And they handed the presidency to Johnson by a landslide.

Some of this year's Illinois candidates got all muddy competing for my LBJ award; I wish I could throw in a towel for them.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thank you Private Ryan

Two hundred and twenty two years ago, a few thousand ragged Private Ryans stepped forward and won our freedom from the oppression of British Rule. Since that time, through a variety of wars large and small, millions of Private Ryans have stood up and answered the call to preserve and defend our freedoms from those who were determined to take them away.

To all these Private Ryans, we are indebted and thankful. But perhaps this movies' greatest value is to remind our younger citizens, that these freedoms they take for granted, are not entitlements but rather privileges earned at great sacrifice by the generations of Private Ryans who have gone before them. That as heirs of these freedoms they too must be willing to stand up and be counted should they be called upon. For only through the recognition of this responsibility will our privileged way of life be preserved for the future.

Time to preserve

Living in Lindenhurst it is hard to ignore all of the commercial and residential development that has occurred in Lake County over the past few years, but I think now it has gone too far. Everywhere fields are being plowed over to make way for more houses or strip malls. It stared innocently with houses and a strip mall being put up on Grass Lake Road, but now Grass Lake Road is overflowing with freshly built houses and the developers have made their way to Sand Lake Road. It seems like everyday there is another subdivision cropping up on Route 45, and now a subdivision is beginning to spring up on Hunt Club Road.

My point is that it is sickening that there has to be so many subdivisions going up. What ever happened to the farms and nice open space? It is almost non-existent now that the developers have run amuck. I understand that there general influx in population for all of Lake County, but things have gone too far. Everyone needs to step back and remember what Lindenhurst and any other place in Lake County used to look like and then decide to preserve what is left.

Grayslake best site

With respect to the proposed Multi-University Center for Lake County, in my opinion it should be built in Grayslake. As a lifelong Lake County resident and mother of two children, I truly believe that Grayslake is the best site for this educational facility.

Since Grayslake is the home to the College of Lake County campus, theater and library already, it would seem that would be an important factor in deciding the future location of the University Center. The Village of Grayslake also offers a more central and easily accessible location that the other potential sites, as well as begin close to Lake County's population center.

Grayslake is a well-established community with good schools and housing choices that would also appeal to University Center faculty, students and staff. Finally, Grayslake has shown its continued support for the arts and civic organizations in addition to education.

My family and I encourage other Lake County residents, the Lake County Board members, and members of the Illinois Legislature to bring the University Center to Grayslake.

Where's the traffic lights?

On Sept. 4, 1996, a petition was started and signed by residents of Willow Ridge Three to get a traffic light on Rollins and Nicole because of the safety factor. Concrete has been poured, electric has been done, and now we're told it will be soon. Let's pray no one will be hurt and maybe Dusty Powell will finish what was started. I'm a disgusted resident.

Round Lake Beach

Stop, look...and listen!

I'm calling about the man who lives off Route 59 in Lake Villa on Highlands Drive who has a red van. I'd like to say we are very sick of you not listening to us. The place where you keep parking your van is for mothers to drop their kids off so they don't get hit by cars. It was created by us and we don't appreciate you not listening to us. Please listen to us and don't do that anymore.

Lake Villa

Houses vs. wetlands

I was just wondering, Antioch has reserved a special place for wetlands. They should have wetlands in Gurnee, too. They've got all these houses built around here. Depke and Welton have certainly filled their pockets. There's no place for the wildlife to go. They ought to tear half the houses down because more than half are empty and make a place for the wildlife to live. As far as coyotes bothering animals, they ought to keep their animals in or get their heavy butts off the couch and walk them.

Gurnee

Crabby the grouch

I'm calling about one lady in particular on Larkdale. She's been there for years and years and all she does is crab and complain and calls the village and police to complain about anything and everything. She has run out all the other people. People who had a business in their home, she tried to tear them down. I hope she's happy, no one is even talking to her anymore. We all hope she moves.

Wauconda

Think of others

Fall is here and people are burning leaves and fireplaces. Do you not realize that people with heart problems and allergies are suffering, not to mention all the carbon dioxide in the air? Sometimes we can hardly breathe, even if we're on the upstairs level of the house. If your kids are constantly on medication because of ear infections and runny noses, it's because the air is dirty. That's why we have electric and gas heat and people don't use wood to heat our homes. Let's not even talk about the destruction of our forests. So be a responsible citizen and only burn wood and leaves when necessary. Think about other people.

Unknown

Wrong thing to say

I'm calling in regard to the article on the Ingleside residents' march against drugs and crime. What they're doing is wonderful and I'm all for it. But the lady that started this, her quote in the paper about how it's easy to spot a drug house, when people drive up to a house and run in and out. She just described half the houses in the United States with teenagers. My neighbor has a bunch of teenagers and have kids coming and going all the time and they are a drug-free house. I think it was wrong of her to say that.

Spring Grove

Leave him in

I was just reading about the new Mideast peace accord that was signed the other day. I'm thinking what a wonderful thing it is we're in such a rush to impeach Clinton. If he had a few more years in office, he might end up solving all the world's problems.

Lindenhurst

Underfunded

The referendum for Fox Lake for the schools is vastly underfunded. The $7 they say will never pay off the debt we owe on those bonds.

Fox Lake

Speeding bus

District 95 School District in Lake County's school buses speed down our street. It seems all right with the police chief, the mayor and the superintendent of schools, but it's not okay with the residents. I was behind bus #26 going 20 mph and it was way ahead of me. And those are big buses to be rushing up and down narrow streets, with homes pretty close to the streets. I guess if they're not rushing up and down their streets, they don't care about the rest of us.

Lake Zurich

Skeptical

I am very skeptical of the new Emissions Control check station that will be imposed on the residents of northern Lake County. The first problem is that you will be assigned a time of their choosing, often during the time when everyone works. To get a time that fits your schedule, you need to pay a fee. Thanks a lot. Second, why doesn't all the construction equipment that operates here in Lake County, have to be tested like us motorists? I constantly see billows of smoke and pollution coming from various dump trucks and bulldozers. If motorists have to play the bureaucracy game, so should they. Third, if they really want to control emissions, they should start the regulations at the point of manufacture, not the point of usage. That would cut out a lot of these patronage jobs at the emissions station, wouldn't it?

Antioch

Clinton spilled ketchup

I'm calling about President Clinton. I want to say that when you do something really bad sometimes, it's kind of like wearing a white silk suit at a party and having ketchup spilled on it. The person did the spilling can say "I'm sorry," and the person who's wearing the outfit can say "I forgive you," and everyone at the party can say "how sad," but the point is that the red stain is on the outfit and sometimes the only thing you can do is to get rid of it. There's no love, hate or politics involved, that's just the way it is.

Fox Lake

Why not more publicity?

The weather was just great, the crafters were set up, the food was free. Even the gazebo was done and in place for a ribbon cutting ceremony. But where were the people? Why wasn't this event in Fox Lake more publicized by flyers, newspaper articles, or even a banner running across the town center? If you knew about this and didn't attend, shame on you. Why are we not supporting our Fox Lake town at an event like this?

Fox Lake

Good thing

It's a good thing taxpayers defeated the private health club and pool referendum in Grayslake, because now we need big referendums for the school and fire department, which is a heck of a lot more important. Village manager Ellis was wrong in pushing a weak mayor to add $11 million with interest to our debt, knowing we needed classrooms and a new fire station, which alone will raise our taxes over $250 a year. So much for leadership in this town.

Grayslake

Do better next time

Looking at the paper of Friday, Oct. 23, about Grant Homecoming Queen, with more pictures on A14. I didn't recognize anyone on page A14. It was a disappointment for the students with rain, and then no pictures of the queen and court or floats? This is our high school, please do better than that next year.

Ingleside

Thanks for time, donations

I would like to thank everyone who donated their time to sell red ribbons for the Antioch High School this past weekend for the MADD campaign. Also, to the community for allowing us to present ourselves in stores and on street corners, and also a special thanks to all those who donated to our cause. It will go to the post-prom function this year.

Antioch

Great job, Fox Lake

I'd just like to commend the Village of Fox Lake for resurfacing and widening Liverpool Road, Lippincott Lane, and Fern Court. It was a very difficult task. I would wake up early to go to work, and every morning, rain or shine, they would be out there working. There were a couple of weeks of really bad weather, and the roads were just awful. Some people couldn't even get through, the village went out and collected all of it into pickup trucks and discarded it. They even arranged transportation for those who had a difficult time getting to their homes. It all worked out very well, and it is a big improvement to the village. Thank you!

Fox Lake

Bring back lady

I'm very upset. I live in Round Lake Beach and what they're doing at the Village Hall is unfair. I go in and there's a Spanish-speaking lady who was there to help me. Now she's not there anymore. I don't think the Round Lake Beach Village Hall is very friendly to Hispanics.

Round Lake Beach

Let's find out why

According to the Wall Street Journal, many states contribute more to the federal government than they get back in federal funds. Connecticut was number one, New Jersey was number two, and guess what, Illinois was number three. How about ask-

LAST WEEK'S QUESTION WAS:

Do you think there is a need for hate crime laws?

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION IS:

Should Lake County taxpayers pay for bilingual services to accommodate the Hispanic population?

ing our senators and congressmen why they have let many other states, especially southern states, who have power, and we're contributing all the money and it's not coming back to us. We need a president from the northern states.

Unknown

Fix tracks once and for all

I'm calling about the railroad tracks at the intersection of Route 134 and Fairfield Road in Round Lake. It's terrible. They went to fix them about 3-4 months ago, but they didn't replace them like they should have. You have to come to a complete stop to crawl over these tracks. I live on a street that's been paved two years in a row. Why do they do this when it's unnecessary, but yet not fix tracks that hundreds of people drive over every day? Hopefully someone will do something about this.

Round Lake

Nothing wrong with guns

My dog was shot in the Ingleside area by a neighbor, yet Lake County officials, Animal Control, and the Sheriff's Department see nothing wrong with someone shooting a rifle in a residential area. It seems taking the law into your own hands is condoned in Lake County.

Round Lake Beach

Great police force?

Isn't it great that a Libertyville cop, when he was a police officer, molested a young minor female. He gets off with two years probation and 21 days in a work release program. How many people have been charged with teen, female or child molestation and have gone to jail for a long period of time? This wasn't his first time. He misused his badge and did something illegal, yet he's still walking the street. What a good police force we have.

Libertyville

I agree

I'm calling in response to "Disgusted." I fully agree with the points they made. Why can't people just grow up, they're too busy worrying about themselves to see that others need help. I don't think a lot of people learn mutual respect.

Antioch

Response

This is in answer to last week's caller, who berated both UHUA and myself. The figures and the facts she sent to homeowners were approved by the Lake County Public Works Department. We did not try to mislead anyone. Your figures are ridiculous. We have talked to public officials about grant money. They said we wouldn't look for any grants unless they knew what the people wanted. Thus, the fact sheet. I especially take offense to your remark about all letters being sent back to me. I have not opened one letter because I knew there would be one small-minded person out there with no ethics who would question mine. All letters are turned over to a committee unopened.

Antioch

Thanks

I'm calling to thank Addie Young at First Chicago Bank in Antioch for all the help she gave me. If it wasn't for her kindness, I'd still be in a mess. Thanks again, from Bernice.

Need more eateries

Why do we need another auto parts store in Round Lake Beach? Enough's enough. What happened to the Old Country Buffet that was supposed to be put in next to Pep Boys? Now we have a Hobby Lobby. We need more good restaurants in this town. The town is getting bigger and bigger and there's only one new restaurant, Applebee's. We need more.

Don't print unknowns

I just read the "Be a Pepper" message in last Lipservice and the town was unknown. I don't think you should print anyone's message if they don't give their town name.

Need my privacy

Real estate transactions should not be published in the newspaper. I and my neighbors have a right to some privacy. I don't own a credit card for this reason. One pre-approved mailing wanted my mother's maiden name. What business is it of theirs? The gas company has just announced they will start credit bureau reporting of their accounts. Do I owe them money? No! Do I object? Yes! Six months ago, my name, address, phone number, assessed value of my home and PIN number were sold on the Internet by a telemarketing company. After many obnoxious calls, one caller had the courtesy to send me a copy of the printout. I now have an unlisted number and a gadget to block caller ID. Privacy is a safety precaution just as surely as a burglar alarm. Those who have my address and phone number have needed it for a reason. The others have no inherent right to know.

Give some back

Mary Davis wants a new referendum for the spring, but I will not vote for a referendum for our town when she gets over $100,000 a year that she doesn't earn. If she feels the school district needs more money, she should give back half her pay. She says she's concerned about overcrowding, but she doesn't deserve the money she makes. She's married to the mayor of Round Lake Beach, she doesn't deserve it.

Just smashing

I'd like to thank the kids who were out on Arcade Drive for smashing our pumpkins before 8:30 p.m. Halloween night. I hope that when you grow up and have kids of your own, that bratty kids won't come smash your pumpkins like you did ours, and ruin your Halloween.

Thanks for 'haunting'

I would like to thank Allen, the Second Federal Savings bank group, and especially Elise, for letting us participate in their Haunted Bank. I hope everyone enjoyed the haunting as much as we enjoyed haunting you.

Get with it

I want to tell the village board officials to get with it. They want to build a little strip mall between the corners of Midlothian and Route 60/83. We don't need another Burger King in Mundelein. We have two already. Why not a White Castle or a family restaurant? We need other things in this town, get with it!

Sheriff's crime message 'resonates' with voters

By RHONDA BURKE
Managing Editor

Gary Del Re's crime fighting message got through to Lake County voters Tuesday, as he easily won re-election to a new term as sheriff.

"Our message resonated with the voters of Lake County," Del Re said. "We have shown a vision for the future of Lake County and the ability to lead the rest of county."

Del Re, who has served as sheriff since October 1996, defeated his Democratic challenger Marlene Runyard in his first re-election contest. Del Re received 86,223 votes or about 60 percent, compared to 58,140 for Runyard or 40 percent.

Del Re said he couldn't have been successful without the hard work and dedication of the officers in his department.

I am very proud of the men and women of the sheriff's office and the job they do," Del Re said. "They are professional and dedicated to the job."

The Republican sheriff was also complimentary of his Democratic opponent in the race.

"She ran an issue-oriented race. It was never negative or personal," Del Re said. "The campaign was a tribute to both of us and a credit to Marlene."

Del Re said he enjoyed the challenge of both the primary and the general election, saying he felt the dialogue on the issues was a benefit to the sheriff's department. He defeated Willie Ray Smith in the Republican primary.

Del Re was appointed to the post of Lake County Sheriff by the Lake County Board in 1996, following the resignation of Clint Grinnell for the top cop's job due to health reasons. Del Re was undersheriff at the time and has worked in law enforcement for more than two decades.

"It is good to know the voters have responded to me," he said. "This is a dream job, since I began as a patrol officer in Buffalo Grove 23 years ago, this is what I have wanted to do. I am very pleased."

Runyard, a 19-year veteran of the Waukegan Police Department said she felt she had ran a good campaign.

"I enjoyed campaigning and I think we got a lot of good messages out there and had good dialogue with the voters. I am very pleased with the number of voters that supported me," Runyard said. "It was a good race."

In her campaign, Runyard called for the development of a Strategic Operation Plan and Comprehensive Domestic Violence Plan to address law enforcement needs in Lake County and combat domestic violence.

Runyard entered the race in mid-summer and did not compete in the March primary. She did not indicate if she has any plans for running for public office again in the future.

She will continue her duties with the Waukegan Police Department, where she currently holds the rank of lieutenant.

Divorce, separation, and taxes

Divorced and separated taxpayers encounter unique tax problems and situations. They are faced with questions like—who gets to claim the children as exemptions, which filing status should I use, is this money considered alimony, and how do we handle property settlements?

The most common question the Internal Revenue Service is asked by divorced or separated parents is, "Who can claim the children as dependents?" The general rule is that the custodial parent is treated as having provided over half of the child's total support. This means the custodial parent can claim the child as a dependent, if the other dependency tests are also met.

However, custodial parents can agree not to claim the child as an exemption by filing Form 8332, "Release of Claim to Exemption for Child of Divorced or Separated Parents." The noncustodial parent attaches the signed form to his or her return, and can claim the child as a dependent. Additional information on this issue is available in publication 504, "Divorced or Separated Individuals."

And don't forget, you must include on your tax return the taxpayer identification number (generally the social security number—SSN) of every person for whom you claim an exemption. If you need a SSN, contact your local Social Security office and ask for Form SS-5, "Application for a Social Security Number Card." If you do not list the dependent's SSN when required or if you list an incorrect SSN, the exemption may be disallowed.

The answer to the filing status question will partly depend on your marital status on the last day of the tax year. If you are unmarried, your filing status is single, or if you meet certain requirements, head of household. Generally, you are considered unmarried for the whole year if you obtained a final decree of divorce or separate maintenance by the last day of the tax year, or if you obtained a decree of annulment.

If you are separated but have not obtained a final decree of divorce or separate maintenance by the last day of the tax year, you are considered married for the whole year. An interlocutory decree is not a final decree.

Divorced individuals sometimes pay or receive alimony. Alimony is a payment to a spouse or former spouse under a divorce or separation agreement. It does not include payments that are voluntary.

Alimony can be deducted by the payer and must be included in income by the recipient. Only cash payments now qualify as alimony. Child support payments and non-cash property settlements are never considered alimony, and are not taxable or deductible.

In the case of property settlements, a taxable gain or loss on the transfer of property between spouses or former spouses is not recognized if the transfer is made because of a divorce. You may, however, have to report the transaction on a gift tax return. If the property you owned jointly is sold in order to split the proceeds as part of your property settlement, you must each report your share of the gain or loss on the sale.

I know this is a complicated subject. If you would like more information, consult Publication 504, or have it mailed free of charge by calling the IRS at 1-800-829-3676.—By Robert E. Brazzil, Illinois District Director, Internal Revenue Service.

How long is a long time?

Time can be our best friend. It can make good things better and unpleasant things fade away. Historically, time has also rewarded investors.

A concern of many investors, though, is how much time is enough. As people get older, they're even a little reluctant to buy green bananas. After all, we don't want to miss out on enjoying the fruits of our efforts. So, how long is long term?

Gamblers say the longer you stay in the game, the higher your chances of losing. That's because the odds are in favor of the house. But investing in the stock market is the opposite: The longer you stay in, the better your chances of winning, because the odds are on your side.

To understand how time has historically increased your odds of winning, it can be helpful to look at mutual fund performance in time blocks. Consider the 63-year history of one of the largest, most popular mutual funds, divided into 10-year periods. The first 10-year period began in 1934 and ended in 1943. The second began in 1935, ending in 1944, and so on. This fund has had 54 10-year periods. It's also had 59 five-year periods, 62 two-year periods and, of course, 63 one-year periods.

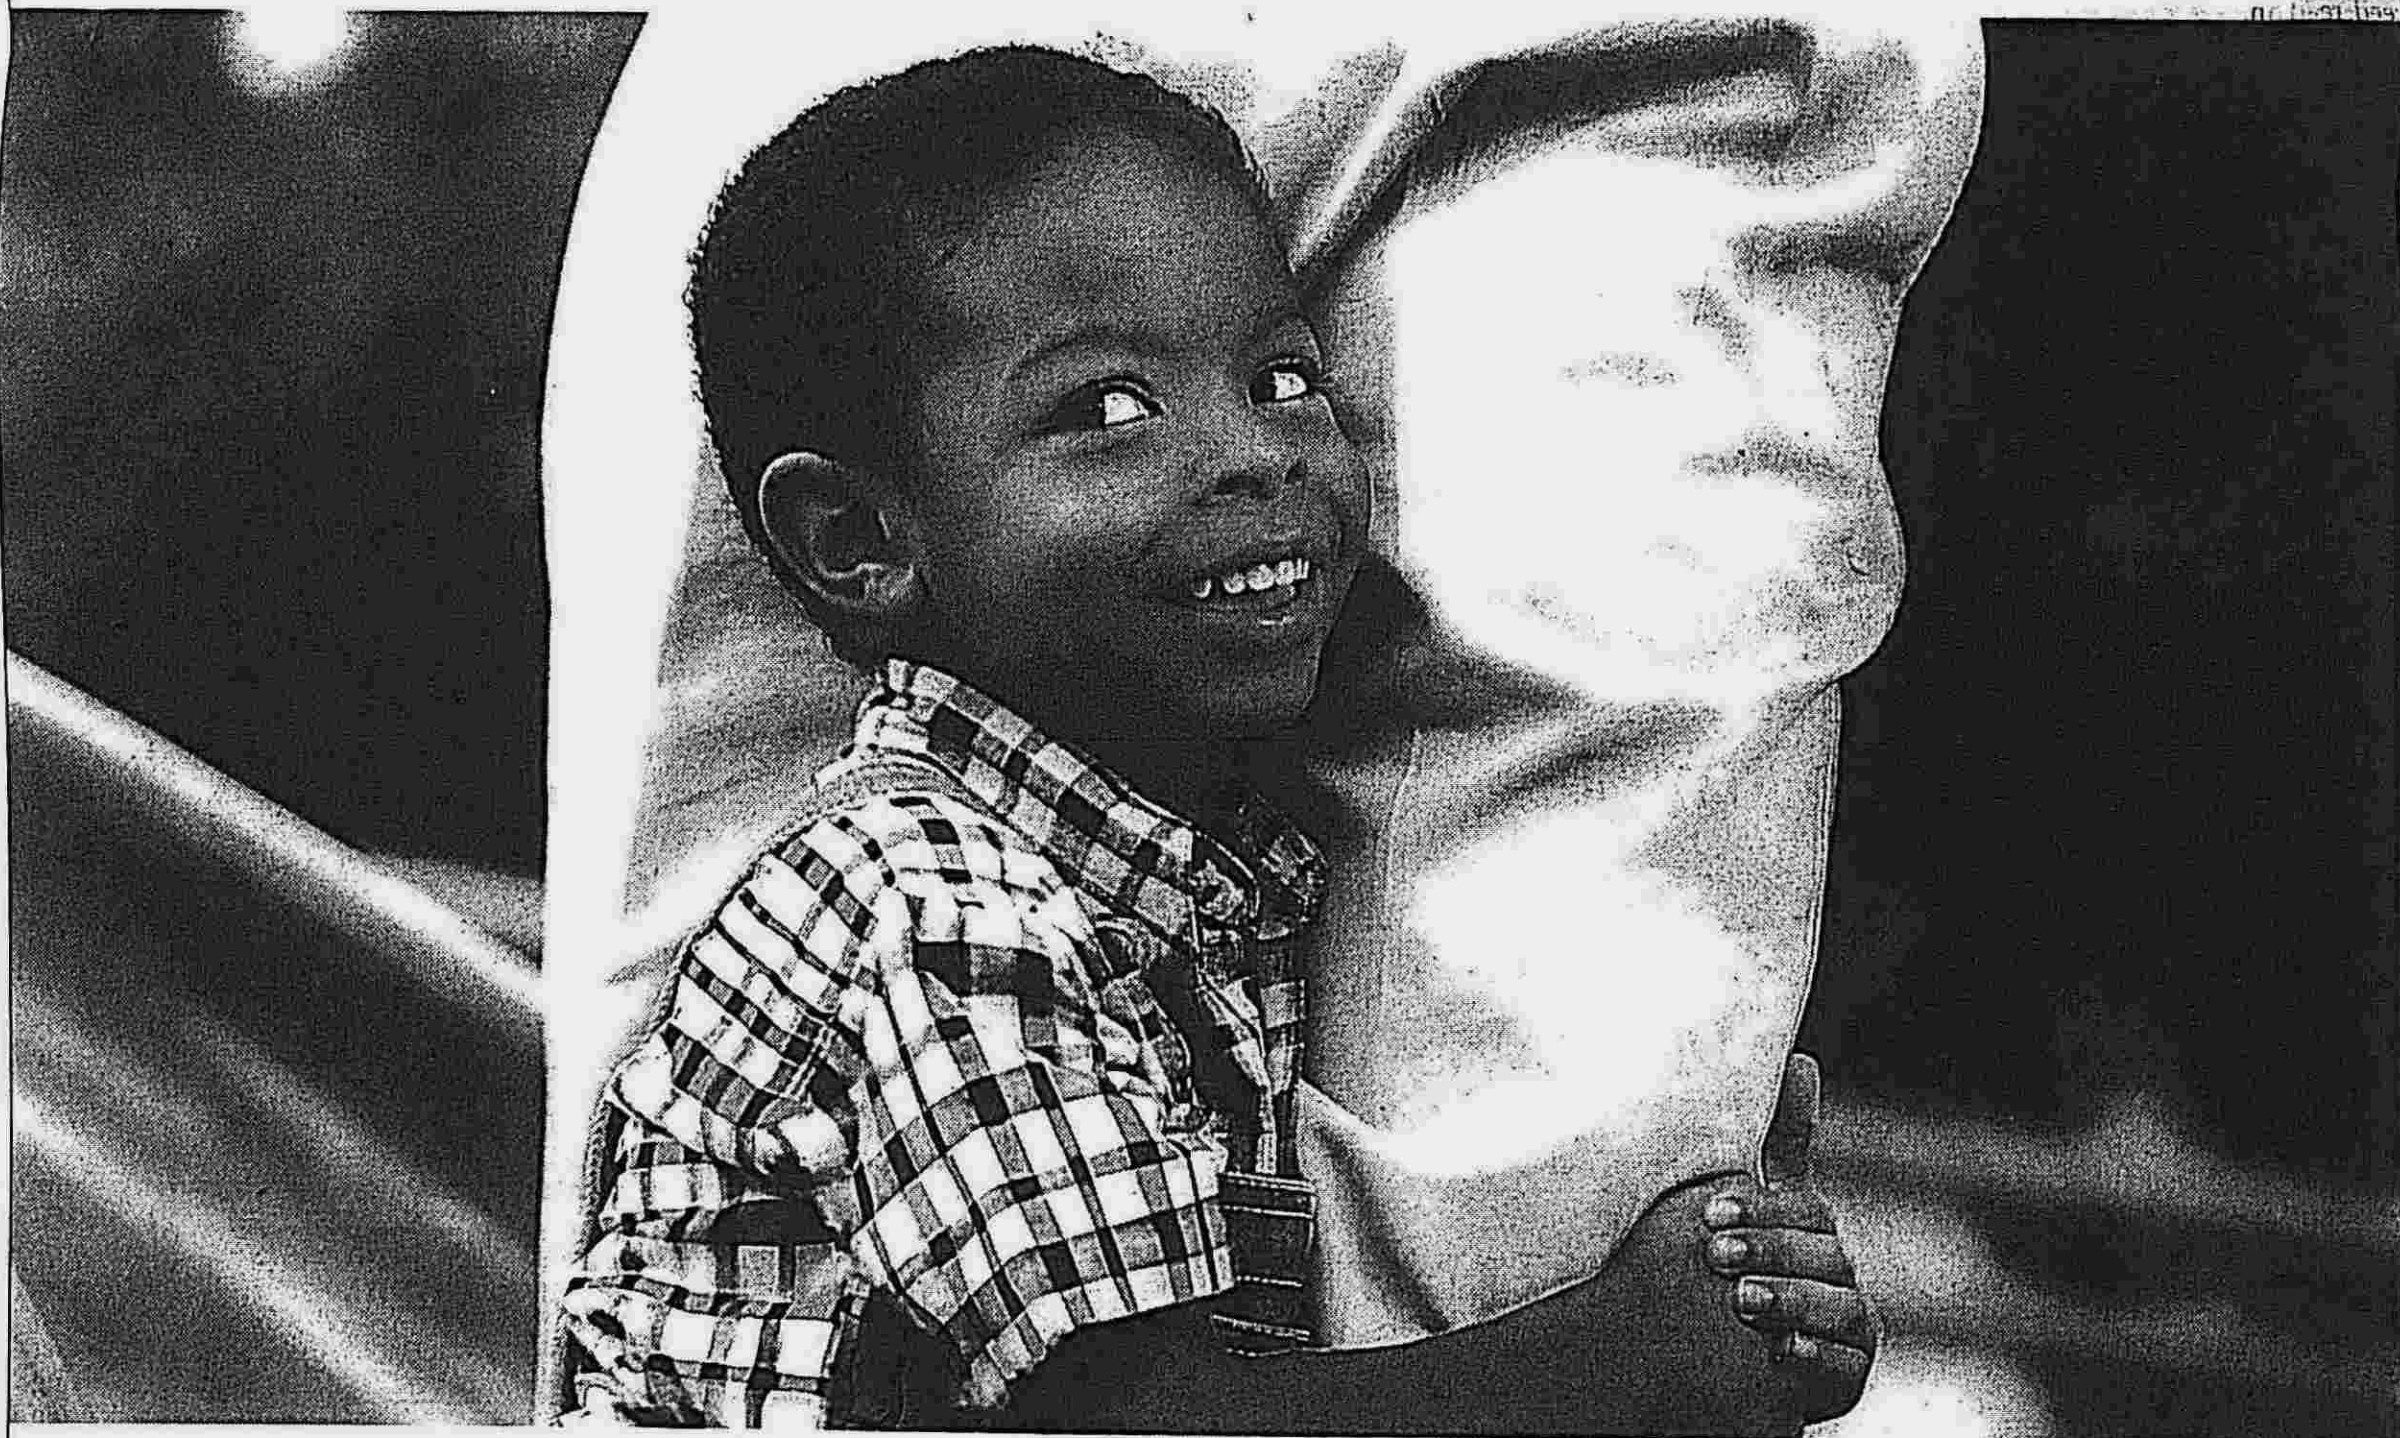

Looking at one-year periods, if you had bought the fund every Jan. 1 and sold it every Dec. 31, you would have achieved a gain 67 percent of the time. If you had held the fund for any two-year period, your odds of winning were 82 percent. Five-year holders had a 95 percent chance of winning, and those long-term investors who held the fund for any 10-year period won 100 percent of the time. Every 10-year period in this fund's history has rewarded investors with a positive return.

There are no guarantees in investing. Every time you make an investment, you take some degree of risk. But if you decide to bury your money rather than invest it, you risk losing it to inflation. Which risk would you rather take?

The good news is that time is your friend. With high-quality investments, the longer you invest, the more you spread your risk. Each year you give a good investment to grow, history shows the odds of winning get better.—By Noah Seidenberg

New Product Idea? Before you get excited...

Charlie asked me to sign a confidentiality form. It was a written promise not to steal his idea or tell anyone else about it. I signed, then Charlie told me about the details.

As he described his idea, I remembered seeing or reading something about a very similar product. We found it in a four-month-old National automotive magazine. Charlie's idea was already patented and on the market.

Sally's new idea was clever and cute. Sally thought so, her mother thought so and all her friends agreed. Sally knew this was her ticket to early retirement.

Sally grew defensive as I began to ask questions. Who might buy her product? How much will it cost to build and package the product? How much might a buyer be willing to pay for it?

Sally didn't want to deal with these or any other questions. She wanted to get a loan and begin manufacturing right away.

Charlie and Sally are real. I've changed their names and the situations for the sake of confidentiality.

I've seen hundreds of new product ideas over the years. Some are on the market today doing nicely, while others never made the grade. If you have an idea for a new product and aren't sure how to proceed, read on.

Successful Product Characteristics

The best products are desirable. It should be fascinating and compelling. It may fill a need, but you'll sell more if it satisfies a "want" as well.

The products with the highest potential are simple, but obvious. The benefits your products offer should be self-evident. If you have to spend a lot of time explaining how it works and why everyone should have one, it may not sell.

The best products have a positive image. If your product is harmful or degrading to individuals or the environment, don't expect instant success.

Your new product needs a highly definable target customer. If you feel everybody will want one, you probably won't appeal to anyone.

Your product needs to be innovative. If you are trying to solve a common problem, you must solve it better than anyone else has. Is your approach fresh and innovative?

Your product shouldn't be too far ahead of the accepted curve. Innovative yes, far-out no. Beware of faddish, futuristic trends.

The best products are "stand alone" products. Don't tie your success to another's wagon.

Your new product should utilize established channels of distribution. Getting a new product ready for the market is enough of a challenge. You don't want to blaze a new path to the market as well.

The best products are targeted at specific price points. One of the most clever new products I ever saw violated this principle and never sold. Market research indicated a price point of about two dollars. The client was so sold on his own idea that he got a little greedy and tried to bring it to the market at four dollars. No sale. With careful cost control it could have netted its

Declining interest rates offer opportunities

Short-term interest rates cut, mortgage interest rates already at 30-year lows

The Federal Reserve Board's move to cut short-term interest rates caught the attention of many consumers, and for good reason—lower interest rates mean consumers pay less for the money they borrow. According to the Mortgage Bankers Association, for every 1-percentage point drop in interest rates, more than four million new borrowers are able to purchase a $100,000 home.

"The Federal Reserve Board's decision to cut rates doesn't have a direct impact on mortgage rates, but the same indicators that caused the Fed to cut rates, have driven mortgage rates to 30-year lows," said Rob Speight, branch manager for the Grayslake area Norwest Mortgage, Inc., the nation's leading provider of home loans. "However, the rate cut should benefit borrowers with Adjustable Rate Mortgages (ARMs), who may notice a slight decrease in their mortgage interest rate."

Speight said the average interest rate for a 30-year loan was 6.60 percent for the week ended Oct. 2, down from 6.64 percent the week before, and 7.43 percent from one year ago. While this is not a dramatic decline from steady lows throughout 1998, as recently as January 1995, mortgage rates reached 9.15 percent.

"Comparing today's rates from just a few years ago, this is a great opportunity for homeowners considering refinancing, or homebuyers considering purchasing or 'moving-up' into a larger home," said Speight.

Low interest rates translate into lower monthly mortgage payments for many, which is often the biggest influencer of a homebuyer's decision to purchase a home, according to Speight. Depending on the loan type, conditions and term, a single percentage point can literally save a borrower hundreds of dollars each month and thousands of dollars over the life of the loan.

For example, a borrower wanting to finance $100,000 with a 30-year fixed rate mortgage at eight percent would pay about $735 per month in principal and interest. The same borrower would pay approximately $632 per month in principal and interest with a 30-year fixed rate loan at today's 6.5 percent, a savings of $103 per month and $1,236 a year in principal and interest.

Many "move-up" buyers are taking advantage of low rates to buy more home for the same monthly payment, Speight said. For a monthly payment of around $800, homeowners with a $100,000, 30-year fixed rate loan at nine percent can move into a home worth $125,000 and maintain their monthly payment.

Current homeowners can also take advantage of the low interest rate environment to refinance. Until recently, however, many homeowners believed interest rates needed to drop at least two percentage points below their current mortgage rate before they refinanced. Today, improved products and services make refinancing much more economical than in the past.

"Refinancing is now a question of how long it takes a homeowner to recoup refinancing costs or save on monthly payments," Speight said. "Depending on the loan type and refinancing package, some borrowers can realize savings within several months to a few years, even if rates drop just one full percentage point, sometimes less."

For example, a borrower can refinance a $150,000, 30-year fixed rate mortgage from eight percent to 6.75 percent, roll the closing costs into the rate—reducing any out-of-pocket expenses—and save more than $1,530 a year in principal and interest.

Refinancing costs can also be reduced or avoided. Several lending institutions, including Norwest Mortgage, offer no-cost loans, which allow borrowers to roll in their closing costs for a small application fee and a slightly higher interest rate.

However, while refinancing is often a popular option during low interest rate environments, homeowners should also consider their long-term housing needs. "Refinancing makes good financial sense, but at the same time, customers should think long-term," Speight said. "Understand that rates haven't been this low for generations and we have no reason to believe they will stay at these levels. So, why not take advantage now and lock-in a rate for your larger home. You'll feel good about paying 6.5 percent in 15 years, when your new neighbors move in and pay nine percent, or whatever the rate may be at that time."

Top 10 mistakes people make when getting a home equity loan

1. Not checking to see if your loan has a pre-payment penalty clause.

If you are getting a "NO FEE" home-equity loan, chances are that it has a hefty pre-payment penalty clause. This can be very important if you are planning to sell your house or refinance in the next 3-5 years.

2. Getting too large a credit line.

When you get too large a credit line, you can get turned down for other loans, because some lenders calculate your payments based on the available credit and not just the used credit. Having a large equity line indicates a large potential payment, which makes it difficult to qualify for loans. Note: this argument holds even if your equity line has a zero balance.

3. Not understanding the difference between an equity loan and an equity line.

An equity loan is closed—i.e. you get all your money up front and then make fixed payments on that loan, until you pay it off. An equity line is open—i.e. you can get an initial advance against the line and then reuse the line as often as you want during the period that the line is open. Most equity lines are accessed through a checkbook or a credit card. On equity lines, you only pay interest on the outstanding balance.

Use an equity loan when you need all the money up front—e.g. home improvement, debt consolidation.

Use an equity line if you have an ongoing need for money or need the money for a future event—e.g. you need to pay for your child's college tuition in three years.

4. Not checking the lifecap on your equity line.

Many credit lines have lifecaps of 18%. Be prepared to pay payments at higher interest levels if rates move upwards.

5. Getting a home-equity loan from your local bank without shopping around.

Many consumers get their equity line from the bank that they have a checking account with. Use your bank, but shop around first.

6. Not getting a good-faith estimate of closing costs.

Your mortgage company is required to provide you with a written good-faith estimate of closing costs within 3 working days of receiving the application.

7. Assuming that your home equity loan is tax deductible.

In some instances, your home-equity loan is NOT tax deductible. This may be the case if you make too much and fall into the AMT trap, or if you have pulled out more than $100,000 cash from your home. Do not depend on your mortgage company regarding this matter—check with an accountant or CPA.

8. Assuming that a home-equity is always cheaper than a car loan or a credit card.

A credit card at 6.9% is cheaper than a credit line at 12%, even after the tax deduction. To compare rates, compute the effective rate of your home-equity loan, with the rate on a credit card or auto loan. Effective rate = rate * (1 - tax-bracket)

Example: If the rate of the home-equity loan is 12% and your tax bracket is 30%, your effective rate is: $12\% * (1 - 0.3) = 12\% * 0.7 = 8.4\%$ If your credit card is higher than 8.4%, then the equity loan is cheaper, otherwise it is not.

Besides the interest rate, you may also want to compare monthly payments and other terms of the loan.

9. Getting a home-equity line of credit if you plan to refinance your first mortgage in the near future.

Many mortgage companies look at the combined loan amounts (i.e. the first loan plus the second) even when they are refinancing the first mortgage. If you plan on refinancing your first, check with your mortgage company if getting a second will cause your refinance to get turned down.

10. Getting a home-equity line to pay off your credit cards if your spending is out of control

When you pay off your credit cards with your equity line, don't put your house on the line by going out and charging up those credit cards again! If you can't manage the plastic, tear it up!

The best products use easily available materials and manufacturing processes. It helps if tooling and start-up costs are low. The higher the entry level costs, the higher the risk factor.

Your product needs to be safe to use. Product liability is a critical issue for businesses. More often than not, manufacturers will be drawn into court even if a product is misused. Keep it simple and keep it safe.

Your product needs to be original. Check industry publications, patent depository libraries and all available literature. Don't waste your time and money reinventing the wheel.

Salvi returns home after election upset to White

By LEE FILAS
Staff Reporter

Al Salvi is returning home.

"I think it's time for me to return back to my private life now," Salvi said from his home, 12 hours removed from his bid to become Illinois Secretary of State. "I'm lucky. I've been blessed with six wonderful children and a wonderful wife and a successful law practice. I enjoy serving the public, but I think it's time to return to my private life."

Salvi's return home comes after losing to Jesse White in the Secretary of State race by a final tally of 1,707,526 to 1,392,240.

This is Salvi's second failed attempt at state-wide public office. The Lake County native failed to carry the vote two years ago, losing to Dick Durbin in the U.S. Senate Race in 1996. Prior to the Senate race, Salvi served in the Illinois State House from 1992 until 1996.

"This shows that Illinois is still a very Democratic state," Salvi said. "If you look at the numbers with Pete (Fitzgerald) and George (Ryan), you will see that these races were a lot closer than expected. And, Pete was up against a troubled incumbent and spent 15 million on his campaign, and it was a real nail biter. It didn't end until 1:30 in the morning."

According to Salvi, some other reasons for the voter swing against his campaign was high name recognition by White.

"Jesse White is a beloved man in Illinois," Salvi said. "He has the tumblers, does a lot for the community and is well known for that. I'm just happy that we ran a very positive campaign against him, we stuck to the issues and stayed on he issues."

"I called him and asked him to implement some of my ideas," Salvi said. "I feel that specialty license plates to help the schools is a good idea and would do a lot of good in the state."

Salvi's main running point was issuing specialty license plates to motorists with proceeds from the plates going to help out Illinois schools.

"I'm disappointed in that the campaign turned a little negative on his part in the end, but I'm not blaming the loss on that negativity," Salvi said. "That's just politics. I'm not going to cast the blame for anything like that."

"I feel lucky after losing," Salvi said. "I have the love of a beautiful family, I live in a wonderful country and I have a successful law practice to put bread on the family table. This gives me more time to spend with my family, so there are some pluses to this loss."

the personalities.

"I talked about management styles, people skills and philosophies," she said. "I also talked about the high turnover in the office and spending. I felt these were issues that needed to be raised."

Hess said she felt the abolishment of the straight party ticket voting helped her campaign a lot.

"It was definitely a benefit, people had to vote for the candidate," she said. "I ran a good campaign with good people."

Hess said she may be back in politics again one day.

"Right now I'm going to spend some time with my family and have no chaos in my life," she said. "I never say never (to running again). You life doesn't go in one straight line. You want to be open to accept challenges as they come."

How To Survive
The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear...Search
My husband has been employed for almost two years. He cannot find any positions in his field (accounting). He is 42 years old and cannot enter into another field without experience. We have a preschool child who requires daycare. What careers can you suggest which would command a salary high enough to cover this expense ($5,200 a year)? How can he compete in other fields when he is unsuccessful in his own with many years of experience? Unfortunately, I am working full time. We have no family members able to care for our preschool child. Sincerely, A.K.-Morton Grove

Dear A.K.
I was surprised to see that you had not included a copy of your husband's resume. While you state that your husband has been employed for almost two years, the circumstances surrounding his unemployment have been omitted. You mention that his field is accounting yet further failed to mention the type of accounting your husband is involved with. What is his forte?...CPA...Payroll Coordinator...Senior Cost Analyst...? Without proper information, the possibilities are too numerous for me to assume the avenue for him to take. Your husband needs to sit down and evaluate what facets of accounting he is capable of handling and is willing to pursue either as a step up or a step back. I will say however, letting us assume that your husband was the Controller of a small manufacturing facility, he may wish to pursue a position in Cost Management for a mid to large size corporation. It may also be that he needs to take a step back in order to get two steps ahead. As for your situation with child care, check out larger corporations offering child care as an employment benefit. Another alternative is to find a neighbor or friend that may be willing to watch your child in the a.m. in trade for watching theirs in the p.m. If your husband is interested, he may wish to contact me for further information which I would be pleased to provide. Good luck.

Dear...Search
I have been called to serve jury duty for the first time. I am unaware as to how long this will last but is my employer required to pay me for my time off? S.F. - Libertyville

Dear S.F.
Most companies recognize jury duty as a civic obligation.
The majority of companies pay their employees the difference between jury duty pay and their own earnings. Same goes for employees in reserve training and the National Guard. As citizens there are certain things we must do for our communities and our country. The majority of companies recognize the "good citizen" participation and support these situations.
